JITNEY OPERATORS IN MORE TROUBLE

Five Lose License to Operate—Must Have Chauffeur's License to Collect Fares

Everything is not as pleasant as it might be for the jitney owners and operators in Lowell. To begin with the jitney operators have not any license, but that is probably more the fault of the city than the jitney men. There was a fight on between the men operating jitneys between this city and Lawrence as to "stations" in Lowell and this matter was fought out before the city council with the result that the men first to apply were granted a location in Paige street. The other jitney men have been kicking ever since and they promise to keep on kicking.

On account of the merry little war that has been going on, five of the jitney men have lost their right to operate automobiles until they make their peace with highway commissioners. For several months certain jitney drivers have been "getting by" on "operators' licenses"—that is, licenses permitting them to drive cars without receiving remuneration therefor, and the fact that they have been collecting fares proves a violation of the "operators' license."

Recently a newcomer to the ranks of drivers, and the highway commissioners refuse to divulge his name—applied for an operator's license but in his application made certain statements which led the commission to believe that he should have a professional chauffeur's license. He was so advised, and immediately made a "holer." Other men in Lowell, he said, were doing just the same business, and were driving under "operators' licenses, and he insisted that he should be given the same kind of license.

Accordingly an investigator was sent to Lowell to find out how matters stood, and as a result of his report the commission has suspended the operators' licenses of Joseph Cordello, George M. Landiere, Henry Levine, Joseph McGlinchey and Andrew J. Welch. Meantime the investigation is still going on, and if the commission finds other men who have been operating as chauffeurs under an operator's license, they had better hasten to make application to the commission for the right kind of a license, or they will soon be without either.

NOTE REMOVES ALL DANGER OF BREAK

Carranza Backs Down in Reply to United States and Opens Way for Amicable Adjustment of Border Situation Which Brought the Two Governments to Verge of War—Points to Release of Troops as Proof of Mexico's Sincere Desire to Avoid Break—Text of Note

Text of Carranza's Note

The text of the note, as transmitted by Eliseo Arredondo, the Mexican ambassador designate, follows:

"WASHINGTON, D. C., July 4, 1916.—Mr. Secretary: I have the honor to transmit in continuation the text of a note I have just received from my government with instructions to present it to your excellency.

"Mr. Secretary: "Referring to the notes of June 20 and 25 last I have the honor to say to your excellency that the immediate release of the prisoners was a further proof of the sincerity of the desires of this government to reach a pacific and satisfactory arrangement of present difficulties. This government is anxious to solve the present conflict and it would be unjust if its attitude were misinterpreted.

"It was also the Mexican government that earnestly suggested a plan for cantonments along the boundary line during the conferences of Ciudad Juarez and El Paso. This government is disposed now, as it has always been, to seek an immediate solution of the two points which constitute the true cause of the conflict between the two countries, to wit: The American government believes reasonably that the insecurity of its frontier is a source of difficulty and the Mexican government on its part believes that the stay of American troops on Mexican territory, aside from being a trespass on the sovereignty of Mexico, is the immediate cause of the conflicts. Therefore, the withdrawal of the American troops on one hand, and the protection of the border, on the other, are the two essential problems, the solution of which must be the directing object of the efforts of both governments.

"The Mexican government is willing to consider in a quick and practical way and prompted by a spirit of concord, the remedies which should be applied to the present situation.

Favors Mediation

"Several Latin-American countries have offered their friendly mediation to the Mexican government and the latter has accepted it in principle. Therefore the Mexican government only awaits information that the government of the United States would be disposed to accept this mediation for the purpose mentioned above, or whether it is still of the belief that the same results may be attained by means of direct negotiations between both governments.

"In the meantime this government proposes to employ all efforts that may be at its disposal to avoid the recurrence of new incidents which may complicate and aggravate the situation. At the same time it hopes that the American government on its part may make use of all efforts to prevent also new acts of its military and civil authorities of the frontier that might cause new complications.

"I avail myself of this opportunity to reiterate to your excellency the assurance of my most distinguished consideration.

(Signed) "C. Aguilar."

"Having thus complied with higher instructions of my government it affords me pleasure to reiterate to your excellency the assurance of my highest consideration.

(Signed) "E. Arredondo."

NEWS FROM CITY HALL

Notice of Hearings on Better Protection Against Fire in Schoolhouses—Council Meeting

The recess committee of the legislature is considering a bill having to do with schoolhouses and at a meeting of the municipal council this forenoon a notice was read stating that there would be hearings at the state house tomorrow, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. The measure has to do principally with better fire protection.

There was a bill before the legislature which was designed to give better protection against fires in schoolhouses, but it was so far reaching in its terms that its passage would compel practically every city in the state to expend many thousands of dollars for schoolhouse improvements.

It is not known if this is the bill the recess committee has under consideration, but it is believed to be the same. The bill was prepared by a committee of thirty citizens prominent in fire prevention and education work.

Provisions of Bill Section 1 of the bill defines the term "schoolhouse" as including any building, or part of a building, used as a public or private school, academy, or college.

SAYS VILLA IS DEAD

MEXICAN EDITOR DECLARES THAT BANDIT LEADER IS DEAD AND BURIED

WASHINGTON, July 5.—Declaring he has positive information that Villa is dead and buried in the vicinity of Boquilla, state of Chihuahua, Mexico, Dr. Atl, editor of Accion Mundial of Mexico City, wired to Gen. Carranza last night from Washington, urging that immediate steps be taken to find the body.

Dr. Atl arrived here today as a delegate to the "peace conference" of the American Union Against Militarism. His telegram said:

My information came from two Villistas. These two men asserted that they were with Villa when he died, suffering horribly from gangrene from a wound in his leg, and that they had helped to bury him.

They declare that Villa's band went into the state of Chihuahua, pursued him and made off. He again fell from his horse and was finally put on a fresh horse and held on by a follower. When he could travel no longer they dismounted. His wound grew worse and most of his followers left him. For eight days he suffered great agony.

The two men, aided by a few others, buried him, and crossing the Sierra on foot, reached Juarez and crossed over into El Paso.

Mysterious Movements of Auto Attracted Attention of Salem Officer Who Stopped Car

SALEM, July 5.—The mysterious movements of an automobile which had sped up and down Boston street for half an hour early today attracted the attention of Policeman Dennis Healey, who, stopping the car, found within it the body of Miss Margaret Ward of Peabody and six men, including former State Representative Chas. R. O'Connell of Peabody.

The men were arrested and charged with being accessories to illegal medical practice. They were, in addition to the former representative, his brother, James O'Connell of Lynn; George A. Bardwell, a member of the crew of the United States cruiser Kearsarge; Daniel J. Dineen of Salem; William D. Conlin also of Salem; and Thomas J. Sexton of Peabody, who had driven the car.

The arrests were made in front of the home of Police Sergeant C. A. R. Duffee, who upon being awakened, identified the dead woman as his sister-in-law. Duffee later went to Boston in an attempt to locate the house, said to be in the Roxbury district, from which the young woman was said to have been removed. According to the police Miss Ward was said to have died after being placed in the machine.

GERMAN LOSSES

Total 60,000 in the Anglo-French Offensive—15,000 Captured

PRESS CAMP IN FRANCE, July 5, noon, via London, 2.50 p. m.—The total number of prisoners taken thus far in the Anglo-French offensive probably has reached 15,000. Judging from these figures, the German losses as a whole, it is estimated here, have been at least 60,000.

The British have taken 11 guns. The relatively small number captured is due to the fact that the Germans in anticipation of the attack, withdrew their guns to longer ranges.

It is reported by prisoners that the Germans are sending in reserves hastily from many points on the western front.

EPIDEMIC IN NEW YORK

525 Cases of Infantile Paralysis Reported—126 Persons Have Died—Many Leave City

NEW YORK, July 5.—The epidemic of infantile paralysis here has hastened the departure of thousands of families who usually leave town for the summer. Estimates made by the health department officials of the number of children who have been taken out of the city since the epidemic became serious, ran as high as 50,000 but this is the season when the city population is annually reduced by the summer exodus.

Thus far 525 cases of the disease have been reported to the board of health and 126 persons have died. It is most prevalent in the Italian quarter of the southern section of Brooklyn where the paralysis made its first appearance. High mortality continues to be the striking feature of the epidemic and the death toll has reached approximately that of the entire epidemic of 1907, when 5200 cases were reported.

Although 59 new cases and 25 deaths were reported yesterday the health commissioner said the outlook was "a little encouraging" as there were fewer true cases than in some of the previous days. Nevertheless he made requisition for fifty additional field nurses and 57 hospital nurses, together with domestics and orderlies.

The order of the health commissioner excluding children under 16 years of age from moving picture shows went into effect today.

Physicians say there is no known positive treatment for the disease but that the child's physique has to combat it with such aid as the doctors can give to lessen the probability of permanent injury. If a strain is allowed to fall upon the affected limb there is great danger of permanent paralysis, says the health commissioner.

INSPECT ALL TRAINS

CHICAGO, July 5.—Eighteen city physicians under the direction of Dr. John Dill Robertson, health commissioner were today watching incoming trains from the east as a precautionary measure against the possible development of an epidemic of infantile paralysis. It is planned to keep up the inspection of trains for two weeks or more.

So far no cases were reported from any of the eastern trains. An inspection of some previous days, nevertheless, he made requisition for fifty additional

CAMP WHITNEY

Recruits Make Merry Despite the Weather—The Lowell Officers

Rain kept visitors from thronging Camp Whitney yesterday, but it in no wise affected the spirits of the 2000 or more recruits and National guardsmen quartered there. Every halt in the downpour gave the embryo soldiers a chance to make merry and show that weather is no bar to men bent on making July 4 lively despite opposing fates or hose nozzles hitched to any sky. The long list of scheduled field games were postponed to next Saturday or Sunday, and as a result the sports of the day were confined to the individual tents and to the great tent of the Y.M.C.A.

In the latter part of the day the recruits numbering about 400 held a parade and were led by the Sixth regiment band and a trio representing the "Spirit of '76."

Early in the forenoon officers of the Eighth regiment and the First Corps of cadets, most of them expert marksmen, started putting the recruits through a drill with pistols and rifles. The pistol range, which was partially completed by the second brigade before its departure for Texas, and which has been put into condition so that it is serviceable for the purpose of the recruits, was a busy place throughout most of the morning.

A rifle range was also arranged at a point in the rear of the arsenal. This gave the recruits an opportunity to get practice as marksmen. They used the regulation rifle with the 22-calibre magazine. The men were put through the aim drill with tripod under the direction of Sergeant James Stewart of the First Corps cadets, former member of the Massachusetts State Rifle team and the United States Palma team. They were also given instruction in the use of the sling and sighting with regulation rifles at the target in the pistol butts. Each man was permitted to fire 10 shots at a distance of 75 feet. This latter practice was under the supervision of Major John M. Portal and Captain J. H. Keough, U.S.A.

This practice will be continued every morning. In case the men do not leave the camp this week they will be sent to the Wakefield range next week in battalions to take up regular outdoor rifle practice.

The work of examining the recruits progressed rapidly at the hospital tent and Colonel Warren E. Sweetser announced toward evening that approximately 70 of the recruits had been examined. He said that as fast as the men were examined and passed they were being equipped with the regulation clothing. A supply sufficient for all the recruits has been on hand for several days.

In almost every company street men were receiving their uniforms during the greater part of the afternoon. All are being given a double inoculation against infectious diseases. One inoculation is against typhoid and the other against smallpox.

The recruits were also put through one short drill during the morning. This came at 7:30 o'clock, after which Colonel Sweetser announced a holiday. Sixth Regiment Band.

RESISTANCE TO DISEASE

Debility is a loss of vitality, not affecting any one part of the body particularly but the system generally. It is dangerous because it reduces the body's resistance to disease.

When debility follows acute disease, convalescence is slow and the strength does not return as it should. An attack of the grip often results in debility that persists for months. Everybody recognizes that the remedy for debility is to build up the blood because the blood goes to every part of the body and an improvement in its condition is quickly felt throughout the system. The problem in every case is to find something that will enrich the blood.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills suit most people's need because they are non-alcoholic and they really build up the blood and strengthen the nerves. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are useful for growing children and for men and women whose nervous energy has been overdrawn. Try them whenever your blood is thin.

MacBryne, headquarters commissary and acting battalion adjutant; George D. Crowell, acting regimental sergeant-major and Edouard A. Deslandes, acting battalion sergeant-major.

The three Lowell captains of the Sixth, Capt. James N. Greig, Capt. Walter R. Jones and Capt. George W. Peterson are also acting captains of Companies K, G and C respectively of the provisional regiment. They are being assisted by their respective lieutenants.

YOUNG MAN MURDERED

COMPANIONS DECLARE THAT STRANGER STABBED REINHOLD SCHINK, AGED 18

MANCHESTER, N. H., July 5.—The murder early yesterday morning of Reinhold Schink, 18, is being investigated by the oldest German families in this city, as he with three companions were spending the "night before" at Pine Island park, has not been solved by the police.

The companions of the young man, who were with him at the time of the tragedy, according to Chief of Police Michael Haley, tell conflicting stories concerning the manner of the fatal stabbing.

An autopsy will be held today and later an inquest will be conducted. The companions of young Schink and the three young men, who rushed to the scene of the stabbing when they heard cries for help, will be called as witnesses.

Two of the companions claim that Schink engaged in an altercation with a stranger, whose identity they did not know, and that the difference culminated in a fight, during which the stranger stabbed Schink with a large pocket knife.

Schink and three companions left Manchester early last evening to go to Pine Island park, four miles from here, to spend the "night before." His companions were Malcolm Gilmarlin, 18, of 58 Wilkins street; Albert LeMay, 20, of 26 North Main street; and Louis Somers, 17, of 502 Second street, all of Manchester.

The boys secured a canoe in the early evening, and paddled about the lake. The canoe overturned as they coaxed about, and all three were tossed into the lake. They could swim and managed to stroke to the shore.

The boys spent the evening and night until 3 o'clock next morning, in moving with the crowds about the park. It was at this time that the stabbing occurred.

Emil Michael, Eli Chaput and Donacres Lavelle, all of Manchester, heard cries for "help" emanating from a lonely section of the park upon the hill at the pine grove.

The three young men reached the place where Schink lay dying on the ground, surrounded by his three companions.

Schink was bleeding profusely from a jagged gash in the throat, and died on the way to the hospital in Manchester.

PARADE IN CHARLESTOWN

25,000 CELEBRATE—GIFT PRESENTATIONS AND SPEECH BY MAYOR CURLEY

BOSTON, July 5.—Charlestown's delayed celebration of June 17 was carried out yesterday with a parade in the afternoon and a band concert in Hayes square in the evening.

While the parade was not very long, it was good, and the marching of the soldiers and sailors evoked great praise from the 25,000 persons who stood in the rain and watched them pass.

One of the divisions that attracted great attention was composed of Albanian citizens. The St. Mary's Cardinal Cadets came in for their share of applause from the spectators.

Just before the parade started there was a celebration on the Bunker Hill Monument grounds. Mayor Curley, who delivered the patriotic speech, was presented with a gold-headed cane by the Rev. John W. McMahon, the pastor of St. Mary's church, who offered for the mayor the "Battle of Bunker Hill," was presented with a pair of gold cuff buttons by Philip Tague, a nephew of Congressman Tague.

Mrs. Curley was presented with a cameo breast pin. Miss Marian McDonald, daughter of Councilor Daniel J. McDonald, was presented with a gold neck chain and pendant by Mayor Curley, and Congressman Tague's son was presented with a pair of gold cuff buttons. The cuff buttons had the replica of Bunker Hill monument on them. On the handle of the cane presented to the mayor were his initials "M.C."

The parade was 15 minutes late in starting, due to the mayor being in attendance at the monument celebration. It would have been much later if it had not been for John F. Dever, chairman of the celebration committee, notifying the mayor that the parade was awaiting his arrival, and it would not start until he had taken his place in line.

Jumping into a carriage with Congressman Tague and Councilor McDonald, the mayor hurried to the starting point, and Chief Marshall Andrew T. Wilson gave the order to march.

The procession started from the junction of Green and Bunker Hill streets, then passed up Bunker Hill street to Main street. Sullivan square to Gardner street. Seaver street to Cambridge street, to Main street, to Union street, Washington street, to Harvard street, City square to Chelsea street, to Bunker Hill street, to Tutts street, to Princeton street, to Marion street, to Bunker Hill street, to Elm street, to High street, Monument square, north, east and south sides, Winthrop street to Warren street.

The parade was made up of a battalion from the Coast Artillery Corps in command of Major T. D. Ashburn, Capt. R. H. P. Kelton, Capt. J. P. Spurr and Captain F. H. Lemaux. Then came sailors and marines from the flagship Minnesota, Texas, Virginia, New Jersey and Kearsarge. Lieut. C. B. Mayo of the Virginia was battalion commander.

Following the sailors and marines came the Fifth company, Coast Artillery, in command of Captain Fred R. Robinson. Next came the Seventh company of Coast Artillery, Captain Arthur W. Burton. Then came the St.

Mary's Cardinal Cadets, following the naval brigade. Other organizations that participated in the parade were the A. O. U. Ninth Regiment Veterans' association, First Regiment Veterans' association, and Spanish War Veterans.

THE FEDERAL OATH

DR. LIVINGSTON MAY MAKE A TEST CASE IF COMPELLED BY ATTEMPTED

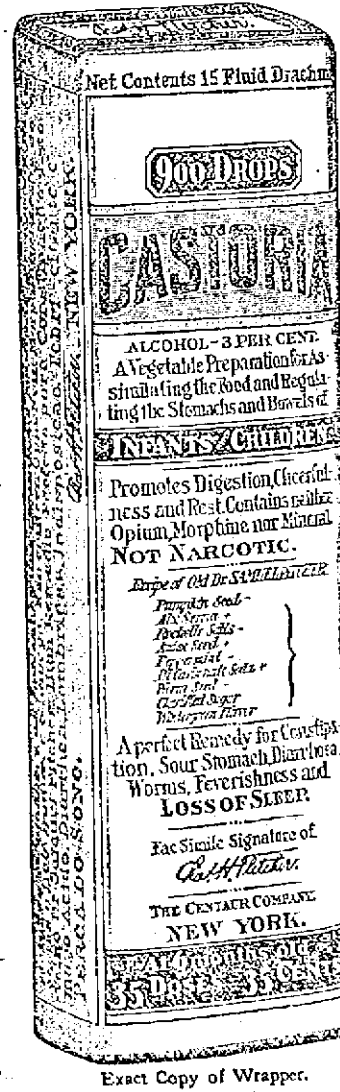

Dr. Clarence B. Livingston of this city, a member of Battery C of Massachusetts, who refused to take the federal oath at Camp Whitney, because he could not see his way clear to do so, in justice to his family, has retained former Adj. Gen. Gardner W. Pearson as counsel, in a test of the legality of the federal demands should the war department attempt a compulsory administration of the federal oath.

Gen. Pearson states that in his mind it is a question whether the U. S. government has the right to force any man to take an oath against his will. The government, he says, has the right under the Dick bill, to order Dr. Livingston, or any member of the militia, to the border, but not beyond. But in the event of men who did not subscribe to the oath being ordered to the border, what then? They are members of the state guard. Their fellows who took the oath, are federal troops, and have no authority over the state guard. There are many complications which would have to be ironed out.

The municipal council is in receipt of the following petition from the Pawtucket Waterways Committee:

"The undersigned respectfully petition your honorable board that the city of Lowell acquire by eminent domain, the land and buildings along the northern bank of the Merrimack river for a distance of four hundred feet on each side of Pawtucket bridge.

The removal of all the buildings now standing along the river bank on Riverside street and Varnum avenue and the acquisition of the land to be seized for a public park will not only beautify that section in affording an unobstructed view of the Merrimack river from Moody street bridge along Colonial avenue, Riverside street and Varnum avenue to Pawtucket falls, but this improvement, we believe, will greatly enhance the valuation of property in that locality.

The total assessment of land and buildings herein suggested for seizure is $15,000.00 and we are firmly of the opinion that the city is at the opportune time for action before any of this property changes hands or costly new buildings are erected in the place of the present unsightly structures.

The check of $1000 was the first prize in a contest conducted by the Sterling Gum Company. In all 1777 prizes are being sent to winners in the contest, those whose suggestions as solutions to the famous 7th-point mystery were adjudged the best.

This is the phrase which won $1000 for George Gill: "The gum the sun brought out."

Paterson, N.J.—"I thank you for the Lydia E. Pinkham remedies as they have made me feel happy and healthy. Some time ago I felt so run down, had pains in my back and side, was very irregular, tired, nervous, had such bad dreams, did not feel like eating, and had short breath. I read your advertisement in the newspapers and decided to try a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It worked from the first bottle, so I took a second and a third, also a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Purifier, and now I am just as well as any other woman. I advise every woman, single or married, who is troubled with any of the foregoing ailments, to try your wonderful Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier and I am sure they will help her to get rid of her troubles."—Mrs. ELISE J. seminary or college, containing one or more rooms, where a regular course of instruction is afforded to more than ten pupils at one time.

Section 2 provides that the requirements of the bill shall be put into effect before the first day of September, 1917, but modifies that provision by giving the chief of the district police the right in cities outside of Boston to grant an extension of time within which the changes in school buildings shall be made, if there is sufficient reason for the delay.

Section 3 provides for the fireproofing of basements if heating apparatus is there installed, by requiring that the ceiling, if constructed of combustible material, shall be protected with metal lath and cement plaster, at least three-quarters of an inch thick; that all spaces under walls and partitions and over stairs, around heat and vent pipes, and around stairways, shall be thoroughly fire-stopped with brick mortar, or its equivalent; and self-closing fire doors shall be installed at the top or bottom of each stairway leading from the basement to the floor above.

As ninety-five per cent of schoolhouses are original in the basement, section 4 of the bill is of great importance. It reads:

"In schoolhouses that exceed one story in height, the basement shall be cut off from the floor above in the following manner: The ceilings, underside of stairways and landings, if constructed of combustible material, shall be covered with metal lath and cement plaster, at least three-quarters of an inch in thickness, or its equivalent; all spaces under walls and partitions and over stairs, around heat and vent pipes and around stairways, shall be thoroughly fire-stopped with brick mortar, or its equivalent; and self-closing fire doors shall be installed at the top or bottom of each stairway leading from the basement to the floor above."

Automatic Sprinklers

Section 5 provides that: "In schoolhouses exceeding one story in height, if not of fireproof construction and used exclusively for school purposes, where there are stairs or stairways connecting the first floor with the basement, the entire basement and all rooms above the basement used for manual training, laboratories or other hazardous purposes, shall be equipped with automatic sprinklers provided with an adequate water supply, and installed in accordance with the standard regulations adopted by the district police. Such sprinklers shall be adequately protected against freezing and shall be kept in commission and under pressure whenever the building is occupied for school purposes."

Section 6 prohibits partitions of wooden sheathing in basements unless they are protected, and requires isolation of heating apparatus. Section 7 provides that in all schoolhouses, corridors leading to two or more exits shall be divided by self-closing double swinging doors. Section 8 prevents attic rooms being used for class rooms unless they open on corridors that have two free and widely separated exits leading to the exits. Section 10 provides that a fine of $100 may be imposed upon any official who refuses or unreasonably neglects to carry out the provisions of the act.

The Council Meeting

In the absence of Mayor O'Donnell, who was in Boston at a hearing having to do with the Pawtucket bridge, Commissioner Duncan presided. The business of the meeting included the adoption of orders calling for pole locations and wire attachments.

The petition of the Lowell Electric Light company for two pole locations in Gibson street was opposed by Benjamin Silverblatt and A. R. Mills, who said that unsightly poles would mar the beauty of Gibson street. Mr. Silverblatt urged the council to visit the premises before granting the permit. The matter was referred to Commissioners Donnelly and Morse, who also a petition by the same company for a pole location in Coburn street.

The petition of Matilda W. Brien for a garage in Westford street was referred to Commissioner Putnam and Fire Chief Saunders. The New England Telephone & Telegraph company petitioned for a permit to keep storage gasoline in Appleton street and that, too, was referred to Messrs. Putnam and Saunders, as were several other petitions of a similar nature.

The chairman read a communication from Jackson Palmer, counsel for James Slavin. It was a notice of inquiry sustained by Mr. Slavin for which, it was alleged, a bad street was responsible. The matter was referred to the law department.

A transfer for $376.33 for Thomas Varnum was voted. The chairman explained that the same notice of inquiry was taken on the petition of the Lowell Electric Light corporation for a pole location in Huntington street.

Orders granting the New England Telephone & Telegraph company pole locations in Beaver, Campos, Brookside and one other street were adopted, as were also orders granting the Lowell Electric Light corporation pole locations in Rolfe, Upham and South Walker streets.

The seventeenth annual report of the wire inspector was received and placed on file.

The sand contract between Patrick Coger and the city was approved as was also the contract between the city and the J. L. Douglas company for the re-roofing of the carpenter shop and the carpenter shop sheds.

BOY SCOUTS' CAMP

THEY WILL LEAVE FOR DUNSTABLE TOMORROW—CAMP ON LAKE MASSAHOAG

About 30 Boy Scouts will leave tomorrow if the weather is favorable for Dunstable, where they will camp during the next five or six weeks. The little fellows will be in the care of Field Executive James Kibard and other officials of the organization, and it is safe to predict that they will have the time of their lives.

According to arrangements the Boy Scouts were to leave this morning, but on account of the unfavorable weather the starting time was postponed until tomorrow. Those who will leave tomorrow will not remain at camp all the time, for it is expected they will remain one week, to be replaced by others for the camp will accommodate but 30 or 40 boys, and the names of those who wish to take in the encampment are coming in fast.

The camp will be located at Massapoag pond in Dunstable and will consist of kitchen and sleeping tents. The boys will take along with them all their paraphernalia. They will go by train as far as East Groton and will walk the remainder of the distance, about one mile. Upon reaching the camping grounds they will pitch their tents and drive a well. During their stay in camp they will be given an opportunity for swimming, boating and fishing as well as to do scout work, but always under the supervision of men. The food will be the best ever and will be prepared and cooked on the premises.

Arthur Giboux, residing at 61 Draucut street, was given a bad scare last evening, when he detected a couple of thieves who were endeavoring to force an entrance into his home. The young man gave the alarm and after recovering gave them chase, but his efforts to capture them were fruitless.

When seen by Mr. Giboux the thieves were trying to force a window in the rear of the house. This is the second time within a few weeks that burglars attempted to enter that house. Mr. Giboux got a good description of the two intruders and he has notified the police.

NO WAR WITH MEXICO

munication so plainly indicates a similar desire that a further interchange of views is expected to begin immediately looking to joint efforts to curb border bandits and other irresponsible agencies that have worked to embroil the two governments.

Officials Impressed by Tone

High officials were much impressed by the complete change in tone shown in Gen. Carranza's new note. It was described by one as "more than conciliatory." There seemed to be no disposition to doubt that the United States on its side would be willing to arrange for the early withdrawal of the expeditionary force from Mexico.

150,000 Troops at Border

With more than 150,000 regulars and national guardmen soon to be available for border patrol work the necessity for keeping Gen. Pershing's column at any great distance beyond the line has lessened, according to many officials. Ample forces are at hand to control the situation even if the Mexican troops now assembled in northern Mexico are unable immediately to guarantee protection from raiders.

In any event, it was pointed out, it will be impossible for any considerable force of bandits to assemble for an attack across the line such as the raid at Columbus, N. M., which Carranza carries out the promises made in his note to "employ all efforts" that may be at his disposal to avoid the recurrence of new incidents which may complicate and aggravate the situation.

Note Speaks For Itself

Eliseo Arredondo, Mexican ambassador designate, had this comment to make:

"The note speaks for itself. It is thoroughly explanatory and sets forth exactly the situation with the United States as viewed by the Mexican government."

Copies of the note were sent by Mr. Arredondo to all embassies and legations in Washington, particularly to the Latin-American diplomats who have sought previously to arrange for mediation of the dispute. Heretofore Secretary Lansing has made it plain that the United States government desired no offer of mediation until Gen. Carranza's attitude and intentions were plainly stated, and the indications are that in the event such offers are now forthcoming, his position will be that they must be accomplished by direct negotiations.

The Mexican note does not make the specific explanation of orders given to Gen. Trevino sought by Secretary Lansing's last communication. Gen. Carranza was then informed that the order to attack Gen. Pershing's men if they moved southward was issued in Mexico, was construed as an act of deliberate hostility. The declaration that the Carranza government will seek every means to avoid new incidents to aggravate the situation is regarded as a virtual withdrawal of the order.

CONCILIATORY ANSWER

FROM GEN. CARRANZA

WASHINGTON, July 5.—The reply of the de facto government of Mexico to the demands of the United States, conciliatory in terms and giving assurance of a desire to reach a friendly adjustment of the difficulties between the two countries was delivered to the state department today by a Mexican embassy attaché. As soon as a translation of the Spanish text could be made it was sent to the White House. Until Secretary Lansing and President Wilson have had an opportunity to confer there will be no formal comment. But some state department officials did not attempt to conceal the fact that they considered the note most satisfactory and likely to remove all danger of war.

Brief and free from all superfluous language of diplomacy, the communication points to the release of the American troops captured at Carrizal as proof of the Mexican government's sincere desire to avoid a conflict; states as the outstanding issue, the reasonable belief of the United States that the insecurity of its frontier is a source of difficulty, and on the other hand the belief of the Mexican government that the presence of American troops in Mexico is a trespass on that country's sovereignty and the immediate cause of trouble.

In offering to consider in a "quick and practical way" the remedies should be applied, the note gives notice that Mexico has accepted in principle Latin-American offers of mediation, and awaits information that the United States is disposed to accept mediation or still is of the belief that the same results may be attained by direct negotiation.

Assurances are given that the de facto government meanwhile will employ every effort to avoid a recurrence of incidents which would complicate and aggravate the situation, and the hope is expressed that the

This is the reply of Carranza to the demand of the United States for a statement of his intentions. A specific response to the question of whether he stands upon the instructions of Gen. Trevino to attack American troops moving other than northward, is evaded and there is no mention of the reprimand administered by Secretary Lansing in his note of June 20 on account of the offensive insinuations and language contained in Carranza's previous communication demanding recall of the American troops.

Although the note is signed by Gen. Aguilar, foreign minister, officials of the Mexican embassy believe it was dictated by Gen. Carranza himself.

FOOD FOR TROOPS

Last week the public learned through widespread press comment that food sent to the troops in camp at Framingham was of a very poor quality. Some of it was condemned by the inspection committee and there was talk of a food strike among the complaining young soldiers. It transpired that the government or the state were not directly to blame, the responsibility resting on those who got the requisition for supplies.

It is hardly necessary to comment on the rank meanness and dishonesty of men who would use the extremity of the country as a means of passing off inferior commodities on the troops. If deliberately done, it is morally a great crime, because it commercializes the nation and the flag in the basest imaginable way. If the Mexican expedition did nothing more than to show up what might happen on a more serious occasion, it fulfilled a good purpose, and the authorities should lose no time in getting down to the root of the recent trouble.

It was customary for the press of this country to score foreign forms and individuals who were accused of such transactions at the beginning of the great war. Let us now vent our indignation nearer home and arouse such a spirit that no man nor firm would dare to descend to dishonesty in dealing with the wants of the country and the bodily wants of its troops.

Human nature, unfortunately, is much the same the world over, and though we would like to believe otherwise, experience teaches that America would have to deal with all the vices that other nations have dealt with ere now.

Aside from the moral aspect of the question, most of the young men who went to Framingham camp and later to the Mexican border have come from good homes and the best family care. It is a poor policy for the state or the nation to treat them in any other spirit and if put to the supreme test they would prove far better fighters if properly fed and cared for than if they had been imposed on by the designs of base food contractors. Recalling the Cuban rotten beef, let us guard against any repetition of the scandal at this time.

RAILROAD SITUATION

The railroads of the country that are threatened with a widespread strike have come out with a request for public investigation and arbitration and though the employees seeking concessions have not yet answered in a like spirit, there is a growing demand among the public for such a solution of the railroad situation. A committee of the railroads have suggested that the matter be referred to the interstate commerce commission—which cannot be accused of favoring the officials—or else a new commission established on fair and disinterested lines. Should a new commission be formed, it is requested that the railroads, the employees, the federal government and the public be represented. Since the rights of all are involved—and more especially the rights of the public—the request seems entirely just and reasonable.

As one means to arouse the employees to the fairness of the railroad point of view in the present instance, the Pennsylvania railroad has got out a poster which is entitled "An Appeal by This Railroad System to Its 225,000 Men." This poster will be placed on the bulletin boards in waiting rooms, ticket offices, etc., and will be given the widest possible publicity. It states that 18 per cent of the employees are being polled for a strike and after stating that the road is in favor of arbitration it says: "The management reiterates its position favoring the settlement of all questions in dispute by arbitration. Such a course will preserve to each one of you unbroken earning power; to the public, uninterrupted service, and to the railroad, continuance of the earnings by which alone it can perform its public duties."

This is a question of the greatest importance to the country—not only to the manufacturer and exporter but to all workers and the public generally. A fair settlement is desirable, and no fairer way of arriving at this is in evidence than the way proposed by the Pennsylvania, viz.: arbitration by a board or commission that would have no object other than that of arriving at an open and honest decision for the good of all concerned.

FROM SCHOOL TO JOB

The head master in one of Boston's best known schools comes out with the suggestion that the curriculum be adjusted and the system of providing positions revolutionized in order that the pupil and the job may be brought together in a more scientific and more satisfactory way. He speaks of the "dumplings" of thousands of high school graduates on the business of their respective communities in June when there is little demand for labor. Hundreds have to wait many months before they get suitable positions and some lose their efficiency in the waiting. Owing to what he calls "the lockstep method of graduating pupils," graduates of low ability, average ability and unusual ability graduate together.

gether and in the scramble for places there is many a misfit. The proposals made would in some instances prove revolutionary, but they are worthy of consideration. Take, for instance, the following questions:

Why not readjust our curriculum during the last year? Why not allow pupils of high degree of ability to complete their work when they can, at any time after April 1? Why not reward ability and merit by allowing pupils to take positions when the market is calling for them? Why not handicap them by "dumping" them all on the community at the same time? Why not adjust and correlate the school work and society needs?

Again and finally it may be asked—should we not square our school practices with commercial and industrial needs by turning our commercial courses so that pupils going to work will graduate at periods in the year when the community can best absorb them?

It is worthy of mention that the local high school has been permitting pupils to leave school the last year and gives them credit for an adequate showing in business life. There is also an attempt to conduct a school employment bureau through which many pupils get an opening in lines to which their training and education peculiarly fit them. With the development of the modern spirit in education, there is every probability that the link between the school and the job will receive more consideration than hitherto.

SAFE AND SANE

There was no more zealous advocate of the safe and sane Fourth for this year than the clerk of the weather and figuratively and literally he put a damper on the enthusiasm of the crowd. For the greater part of the time 'twas as much as one could do to sit patiently indoors and listen to the spasmodic explosions in the distance, but the recompense came in the quietest and sanest holiday in the memory of all remnant citizens. In one sense it was too bad that the weather thwarted the plans of the midway promoters on the common, whose showing was on a higher scale than formerly, but they had a taste of what might have been in the brisk business of the night preceding. Vanity Fair was on in all its modern features. The hobby horses galloped as never before; the great wheels with their electric illumination revolved overhead; the Hindoo leonically told fortunes; the fakirs and vendors sold their wares with every variety of lurid expostulation and the happy conglomerate multitude made up from all ages and nations surged hither and thither noisy, excited and happy. Lucky they who had a foretaste of joy that did not materialize, for with the damp and cold of the day itself, there was nothing to do but to sit quietly at home and think of past holidays when the sun was propitious.

GOOD—BUT COSTLY

The zeal of congress for preparedness is merely a reflection of the popular demand, but, nevertheless, it has been responsible for the highest expenditures in the history of the country. It has not been sufficient to please some of the extremists, but its scope may be gauged from some of the government bills. The total of the expenditures may not yet be definitely ascertained but it will be considerably in excess of a billion and a half dollars. This will be $500,000,000 in excess of any other record of congressional expense.

The two main appropriation measures before congress are the army and navy bills. These are for $282,000,000 and $515,825,543 respectively and with the fortifications bill would aggregate more than $622,000,000. Yet, few complain that the preparedness plans contemplated are extravagant, and if there is any complaint it is that they are not comprehensive and far reaching enough. A little reflection will convince anybody that to talk about preparedness and to pay for preparedness are two entirely different propositions. Preparedness is excellent, but it comes high. Yet we must have it and there is no complaint so long as the load does not weigh too heavily on the individual.

AND 'T WAS LOADED

Just the same old story all over again! A boy and girl go out walking and in a spirit of bravado he shows her a nice shiny revolver. After firing off all the shots, as he supposed, he gives the revolver to her as a plaything. She clicks the trigger a few times and then inadvertently shoots and kills a little brother standing nearby with the one remaining bullet. In one form or another we have heard variations of the incident a score of times, but still boys purchase guns as easily as they might purchase a bag of peanuts and the tragedy happens when they or others forget that the guns are loaded. Under any circumstance, guns are things to be handled gingerly and to be avoided. If in the home they should be kept under lock and key, and under no circumstances should they be sold to the immature. Spite of our pity for the victims of those accidents and our sympathy for those who unconsciously do harm, some day we may have to proceed against them for criminal negligence in order that the public may be taught to observe the simplest rules of safety and self preservation.

ANOTHER "DESETER"

It is amusing the way that republicans call any erstwhile follower of Theodore Roosevelt who may now be for President Wilson against Candidate Hughes a "deserter." How can that be? There is no progressive party, officially or otherwise, so naturally a man cannot desert what is not in existence. Why is there no progressive party? Because by the desertion of Theodore Roosevelt it was disbanded. Who, then, is the real deserter? Any boy in the first grade can answer. The sincere man of the former progressive party who is now turning to the democratic party has not deserted, but the founder of the progressive party has deserted him and his principles. There are a great many "deserters" in the eyes of republicans, one of the latest being Francis J. Heney of San Francisco, former district attorney, who not only turns to President Wilson but will work for him throughout the Pacific coast. When the progressive vote is counted it may be seen that Teddy has failed again.

Real Girl

"How did you happen to pick out that girl for a wife from among all the dozens you knew?"
"I noticed she occasionally put on something heavier than a lace wrap when we had a blizzard. Also, she sometimes wears overshoes when it is raining hard. I thought those things displayed real sense."

"Exceedingly rare for these days, your choice. You have selected a gem!"

"I hate to be contradicted," she said.
"Then I won't contradict you," he asserted.
"You don't love me," she asserted.
"I don't," he admitted.
"You are a hateful thing!" she cried.
"I am," he replied.
"I believe you are trying to tease me," she said.
"I am," he conceded.
"And you do not love me?"
"I don't."

For a moment she was silent.
"Well," she said at last, "I do hate a man who's weak enough to be led by a woman."

It is history that when General Putnam heard the call to duty he left the plow in the unfinished furrow and went at once. This unselfish and patriotic sense of duty has had many counterparts since, as an incident that took place recently in this city proves.

Praise For the Needy

An itinerant preacher stopped for refreshment at an Arkansas house, and, having eaten a pie, he was served with apple pie. The crust was heavy and sour, and the apples were hard; but the good man praised it earnestly. The woman of the house knew that she had had bad luck with the baking, and as she was really an excellent cook, she determined that the next time that preacher came near her way he would have a pie that was faultless.

He told her when he was to return and on that day she set before him an apple pie that was perfectly delicious. He ate it; but, to her astonishment, he refused to eat a second slice, mending that was more than she could stand.

"When you were here before," she said, "you ate an apple pie that wasn't more than half baked, and yet you praised it to the skies. Now you have a perfectly baked one, and yet you are ashamed of it, but you haven't a word to say in its favor. I can't understand it."

"My good woman," said the preacher, "that pie you served me a few days ago was easily in need of praise, and I was full determined that I would praise it; but this fine pie, bless your heart, does not require any eulogy."

The Old Boys

The old boys ride with the young today. Ride of their side like phantoms gray. The old that were like them in the long ago.
To answer the cry of the Alamo.
To leap with carbine and take the wall. While the dead lips rang with that ghastly call.

The old boys hunt with the young off there. For the cutthroat's haunt and the bandit's lair. They sprang to the saddle as long ago. When they answered the call of the Alamo.
Sprang to the side of the young who at their country's call through the endless lands. Of the mesa-lands and the cactus brush. Like the charge of the days of long ago.

They are up and away, by the young they ride. In the sweep of that steady, heroic tide. Of the young bent down to the saddle, they are up and away, by the Alamo. Answer and scurry and stand like men. In the hour of their country's need again.

STUCK BY LIGHTNING

The home of John Flynn near the Westford depot, was struck by lightning during the electrical storm Sunday afternoon. The wiring and electrical apparatus were wrecked and pictures knocked from their fastenings on the walls. James Savage was lying on a couch in the house when the lightning set fire to the lower part of it, but he escaped injury.

A large barn belonging to J. A. Healey at Graniteville was struck by lightning last Monday afternoon and the building was practically destroyed before the blaze was extinguished. Owing to a change in the wind several buildings in the vicinity escaped destruction. This is the third time this barn has been struck by lightning.

The lightning set fire to the hay stored in the loft and in a few minutes the building was a mass of flames. Alarms were sounded and fire companies from Graniteville, Forge Village and Westford responded. The firemen worked hard but it was impossible to save the barn or contents. The loss is estimated at $500.

GUARANTEED TO DARKEN GRAY HAIR

permanently with perfect ease and safety. Wet your hair all over with the liquid and rub it in with your fingers, every day and expose it to the sunlight and air—then your hair will gradually and evenly change to a rich, natural black shade. Absolutely no trace of gray hair will be left and nobody can ever tell how it happened.
Furthermore, your hair will be much more glossy, lustrous, soft and fluffy than ever before—and fascinating to behold.

The secret of this wonderful change in the color of your hair is mainly brought about by a process of oxidation (oxygen in the air) which results from using your hair in the sunlight and air after Q-Ban has been applied. Sunlight and air are nature's own restorer and a very important part of the Q-Ban process. Only in this way with Q-Ban and the aid of sunlight and air can the color be permanently and safely restored to your hair. Make no mistake about this—all preparations claiming to instantly restore the color to your hair are fakes or treacherous dyes.

Q-Ban is made from a scientific formula of glycerine, sweet alcohol, ethyl acetate and perfume. It has been tested by laboratory study and approved by the greatest chemical experts in the world, including Prof. von Huber, University of Zurich, Switzerland. It is safe and sane and the only guaranteed liquid hair color restorer that is absolutely free from danger, dandruff, itching, dryness and itching and we want you to know the facts.

COLONIAL PRIZE MEXICAN STATE

Belgium Wins One of State of Tamaulipas is Richest Possessions Occupying the Border of the World War News of the Day

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 5.—If the reported occupation of Ruanda, German East Africa, by Belgian troops from the Congo, and their establishment of a provisional government in this territory prove to be authentic, one of the richest colonial prizes of this world war has been won by the nation which has suffered most in Europe. Concerning this region, its people and its colonization possibilities the following bulletin has been issued by the National Geographic society from its Washington headquarters:

"If Belgium is able to retain her hold on the Ruanda region of the German East African protectorate she will possess the most fertile and important well as one of the most fertile and salubrious territories of Central Africa. Ruanda lies to the east of Lake Kiwi, through which runs the boundary line between the upper Congo region and the German possessions. To the north lies British East Africa. The Kagera river, also known as the Alexandra Nile, flowing in irregular S shape, east, north and east, emptying into Lake Victoria Nyanza, is the eastern boundary.

"While there are two considerable tracts of forest in Ruanda, the central portion of the territory is bare of trees, and the mountain slopes there are to be found wonderfully rich grass, on which graze magnificent herds of cattle that constitute the chief wealth of the natives. The agricultural possibilities of the region are almost unlimited.

"One of the most striking advantages of this territory is its high altitude, an average of nearly a mile above sea level, so that although it lies under an equatorial sun, the temperature is usually about the same as that of a warm summer day in central Europe. Malarial mosquitoes are not known here, nor does the great deadly fly hover over the land, bringing sleeping sickness to human beings and quicker death to cattle.

"Two remarkable contrasts are to be found among the natives of this region. The highly developed, intelligent Watutsi are magnificent physical specimens, tall and well proportioned. It is not uncommon to meet men from 5 feet, 11 inches to 7 feet, 2 inches tall. On the other hand, on the island of Kwidschweil, in Lake Kiwi, and in the bamboo forests of Bugala the traveler finds the pygmy Batwa tribe, whose spear-carrying warriors are under five feet in height, thin and devoted almost entirely to the chase. The aborigines belong to neither of these tribes, however, but are the Wahutu, a medium-sized, agricultural people. The black sultan of the region, one of the world's most powerful potentates ruling in territory held by white colonists, is a Watutsi. His word, subject to the censorship of the European resident or governor, is law to a million and a half people.

"There is abundant water in Ruanda. The small mountain streams never running dry. When the grass becomes parched on the hillsides the flocks turn to it and immediately there springs up fresh, tender pasturage for the cattle.

"The perfumery salutation among friends is one of the interesting customs of the country. Upon meeting they either place their arms lightly about the waist or else grasp each other's elbows, holding them for a while, then one declares 'I wish you cattle,' while the other replies, 'I wish you women.'

"This region was first explored in 1891 by Count von Goetzen, formerly governor of German East Africa, who came from the east as far as Lake Kiwi, about which Arab traders had frequently brought vague reports. This beautiful, island-dotted body of water, 5000 feet above sea level, was the last considerable lake to be discovered in Central Africa. Its outlet is the Ruwizi river, which flows south into the Congo basin.

"One of the most noted parties of exploration which has visited Ruanda was that headed by Adolphus Frederick, Duke of Mecklenburg, who marched through the territory with an impressive retinue of carriers in 1907. In his report he said that this region was eminently adapted for colonization by white men. The country possesses a fabulous amount of wealth in its herds, to the breeding of which its pastoral people are particularly devoted. Also agriculture may be carried on in a remunerative way, for the soil is fertile and the climate is excellent as that of the milk yield. As to the quality of the soil, it simply leaves nothing to be desired, so that it is evident that there is a splendid opening here for the establishment of business on a vast scale."

PATRIOTISM MINUS BRAG

SEC. DANIELS AT LEWISTON SAYS AMERICA IS BROADENING ITS VIEWPOINT

LEWISTON, Me., July 5.—The American youth of the future must be taught a patriotism without boasting, a love of country without chauvinism or jingoism, a reverence for the flag without a trace of brag or bluster, declared Secretary Daniels yesterday at a Fourth of July celebration.

"The day has passed," said Secretary Daniels, "when the spread-eagle or boasted in stentorian tones that Uncle Sam could whip anything in creation, but the day must never come when the American youth will not glory in the victories of Putnam and Marion at Waxhatch, or when they are not thrilled with enthusiasm when the victories of John Paul Jones, Perry and Macdonough are related."

America, said the speaker, is broadening its viewpoint and getting away from a parochial patriotism.

"Our parents and teachers," said he, "must point out that all wisdom will not come with us, and that the virtues we esteem are found in every nation under every sky. Steam, electricity, and wireless have made this a very small world indeed, and travel has ended the provincialism that sees only the good in one's own country."

The pressing need of preparedness is not causing congress and the administration to lose sight of other pressing questions, the speaker said.

"A Fourth of July that does not see a government alert to give chief concern for the welfare of the American citizen of today and tomorrow," said he, "would not be in keeping with its ideal set up when we established this republic on new and better foundations."

WASHINGTON, July 5.—The prominence which the Mexican state of Tamaulipas is occupying in the border news of the day makes the following bulletin, issued by the National Geographic society from its Washington headquarters, of timely interest:

"Owing to the border outrages committed by bandits who have invaded Texas at points opposite the Mexican state of Tamaulipas, public interest is focused on this political division of the southern republic which has immensely rich resources, both mineral and agricultural, but which has not been developed by American and European capital as have other sections of the country.

"Tamaulipas is about the size of Maine, but with only about one-third the population of the New England commonwealth. Its gulf coastline, low, sandy, hot and moist, extends north and south for 250 miles from the mouth of the Rio Grande to the mouth of the Pango river, where is situated the important seaport of Tampico with its fabulously rich oil fields. This coast is indented with many shallow lagoons formed by the islands and sandbars at the mouths of the Rio Grande, Conchos, Soto la Marina and Tamaulipas rivers. In winter it is swept by violent northerly winds which are exceedingly dangerous to navigation and which cause great discomfort to the natives.

"That portion of the state bordering on Texas is flat and is very dry for eight months of the year, but when irrigated is extremely fertile, producing bountiful grain crops as well as sustaining numerous herds of cattle. The southern and central sections produce sugar cane, bananas, coffee and tobacco in the well-watered valleys. In the mountainous regions, back from the coast, the state possesses immense potential wealth in its undeveloped gold, silver, copper, marble, asphalt and salt mines. Even in the Tampico district the great underground reservoirs of petroleum have been tapped only within recent years.

"The mountains of Tamaulipas, which bear a salubrious climate, team with game, and sportsmen of Mexico City make annual excursions to this region to hunt deer and the vast flocks of wild-fowl which nest in the neighborhood of the numerous lakes that dot the state.

"Tamaulipas owes its commercial importance largely to its textile fibre industry and to the great volume of trade passing through Tampico, which ranks next to Vera Cruz among Mexican gulf ports. Its total commerce for 1913 was more than $53,000,000, while Vera Cruz trade was $53,000,000. From Tampico to New Orleans by steamer is 765 miles and the same distance from Philadelphia to Savannah. From Tampico to Galveston is 450 miles. The capital of the state, Ciudad Victoria, has a population of about 10,000 and is situated in the mining district, 550 miles north of Mexico City and 150 miles northwest of Tampico."

FOR PEACE IN EUROPE

A RENEWED SOCIALIST ACTIVITY IS PREDICTED BY JULES DESTREE

ROME, July 5.—A renewed socialist activity for peace is predicted by Jules Destree, socialist member of the Belgian parliament from Charleroi. Mr. Destree has been in Italy for a number of months, lecturing and writing on socialist questions, but particularly with the view of its understanding and maintaining the relations among the socialists that existed before the war, to prevent the dismemberment of national political organizations.

"There are at present three distinct movements among the socialists of Europe," said Dr. Destree, to the Associated Press. "and the lines are rapidly being drawn tighter. In Italy, in France, and in Germany has existed for some time those socialists who have supported the war and those socialists who have held aloof from it, though passively. The new alignment with the war movement consists, first, of those nationalists who are taking an active part in supporting the war; secondly, those who are in sympathy with the work of the International Socialist Bureau, now located at The Hague, the officers of which are seeking to bring about peace discussions; and thirdly, those who are, as we recently met at Zimmerwald, Switzerland, and who therefore may be termed 'Zimmerwalders.' These latter want peace at all prices.

"The two latter groups are sending invitations and arranging meetings for the summer to examine if there are not some terms on which peace is possible, and these meetings will be attended by socialists from all the belligerent countries, and possibly from the United States.

"Personally, I belong to the first group, the nationalists, who refuse to make peace until there is victory by arms for somebody. If there is peace which is not brought by arms, then it means that armaments will continue, and this would be a misfortune for all. As a socialist I cannot but pray for lasting peace, no matter what the present sacrifices may be. But I do not believe in peace based on justice and we cannot have justice so long as armaments exist to enforce injustice.

"The German socialists might have prevented the war if they had considered questions of justice rather than that of gain. The trouble with them before the war was that they were always fighting about questions of wages, of salaries, rather than points of justice, and when the war came with a chance of gain to Germany they voted for it in the reichstag and despite the declaration of the socialist congress of Stuttgart in 1912. Regarding the political changes that may come after the war, Mr. Destree said: "There can be none unless the Germans are defeated. If they are defeated the socialists will certainly work in every country to see that war does not come again."

"In France and Belgium, however, and probably in other countries as well, the old problems of before the war will not have the same vitality. With Germany defeated lasting peace will come easily and our immediate problems will be those of reconstruction, of rebuilding our fortunes."

LINCOLN FOUND GUILTY

SELF-STYLED GERMAN SPY SENTENCED TO THREE YEARS' PENAL SERVITUDE FOR FORGERY

LONDON, July 5.—A sentence of three years' penal servitude was yesterday imposed upon Ignatius Tribich Lincoln, the self-styled German spy who recently confessed to forgery at his preliminary hearing on the charge.

A verdict of guilty was found against Lincoln immediately after the jury received the case. The summing up took less than a half hour.

Lincoln was sentenced to three years on each of two charges of forgery, the terms to run concurrently. In summing up the judge said he was dealing with the prisoner simply as a man convicted of forgery, whose conduct was the more dangerous because he was well educated. No one in court would have heard anything in regard to other aspects of his case, the court said, if the prisoner had not attested to them.

On being arraigned in police court Lincoln, who previously had asserted the British authorities desired to punish him for espionage, contended that the forgery charge could not be prosecuted owing to terms of the treaty between the United States and Great Britain.

ASK YOUR NEIGHBORS

It used to be the custom—and may be now on remote farms—for the housewife to use her own knowledge, good sense and judgment in dealing with sickness in the family before sending for the doctor, unless in serious emergencies. After that, when there was no immediate danger she would talk with her neighbors, women who had had experience with sickness.

Any woman who suffers from ailments peculiar to her sex will do well to ask her neighbors. She should be kindly and one who has used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Just ask her about it!

SALES REPORTED—SPECIAL OFFER ON RED SEAL BATTERIES—OTHER NOTES

Mr. S. L. Rochette of the Lowell Motor Mart reports the following deliveries of Ford cars:

A. G. Pollard Co., Merrimack street; Arthur H. Foye, 30 Third street; E. O. Proctor, Ayer, Mass.; John Jarek, 18 Plain street; J. C. Wood, 35 Walnut street; Mrs. Mary J. Flynn, 49 Day-ton street; B. Lundberg, West Chelmsford, and E. J. Walker, 521 Gorham street.

The New England Electric & Supply Corp., in Central street and in Dutton street, this week make a special offer on Red Seal batteries. The make of batteries is very popular among motorists everywhere. All batteries are tested for strength before sale. Last week this same establishment offered Stewart-Warner horns at a special price and many of the local motorists availed themselves of this opportunity to secure one of these horns at the reduced price.

The special Ford spur planetary transmission leaves the matter of speed absolutely at the instant control of the operator—without the shifting of levers. It is so constructed as to insure a smooth running and silent car. This transmission is a distinctive feature of the Ford.

George H. Wood, the Central street jeweler, has a large stock of auto goggles and sun glasses. These are articles which are in great demand especially at the present time.

Autoists who are experiencing any battery trouble will always find a number of willing experts at the L. A. Derby & Co. store who will set things right.

The V. A. French Auto and Taxi Service, Moody street is prepared to take parties to the beaches and mountains on trips of any duration. The taxi service is also popular among those who go on shopping trips.

AUTOMOBILE QUESTION BOX

NOTE—In these columns every Wednesday we will give expert advice to motorists on how to repair and operate their machines. Automobile readers of THE SUN are invited to send in questions or problems they wish to have answered. Such questions will receive attention in due time. Address all communications: Automobile Editor, Sun, Lowell, Mass. Communications must bear the signature and address of the sender, though not for publication but as a guarantee of good faith.

Will you kindly let me know through the columns of your paper what will remove grease and oil stains which have dried from the body of a light colored car? Also, what will clean the glass reflectors of the headlights?

Ans.—If the grease and oil has dried and penetrated the varnish there is nothing which will remove the stain. You might try using butter. If this is applied and allowed to remain on the stain over night you may be able to remove the stain partially by rubbing with a soft cloth. This should be done, however, before the foreign matter has been allowed to dry.

The glass reflectors may be cleaned by using alcohol and then finished by rubbing with a soft cloth and a little chalk.

Will you kindly advise me if a car with an underslung frame has less side swing and steers easier when running rapidly than drop frame cars?

Ans.—The writer is not in a position to advance information on this point. There are a number of cars using the underslung construction, and undoubtedly it has its advantages. The makers of the underslung type cars can undoubtedly better advise you as to the reasons for their construction. To discriminate would not be just.

After grinding all the valves in my four-cylinder car, I find that the first and third cylinders have no compression. I noticed this when the engine missed and am at a loss to know what is wrong. Can you give me a suggestion?

Ans.—The trouble most likely lies in the adjustment of the valve push rods or valve lifters. These can be adjusted more accurately when the engine is warm. During the time that the valve is closed there should be a clearance of approximately 1/16th of an inch between the top of the push rod and the bottom of the valve stem. That slight clearance allows the valve to seat properly even when expanded. It is also probable that the leak may be through a valve cup or spark plug or even be due to a broken or poor fitting piston ring.

The clutch on my car is leather faced and up to a short time ago I had no trouble with its holding. For the past two weeks, however, it seems impossible to keep it from slipping. When the car is running on the level it seems to hold all right, but in climbing hills I have trouble. Do you suppose it needs new facing? The present one has been on about three months.

Ans.—Either the clutch leather has been slipping to such an extent that it has become glazed or the clutch spring is too weak. Sometimes the rivets of the clutch leather are not properly countersunk in the leather and prevent a firm contact of the leather with the clutch plate. The clutch lever should be scraped in order to remove the glaze surface and then soaked with neat-foot oil to make it soft. After treating the leather in this manner would also suggest that the clutch spring be taken up. The disengaging levers should be inspected to make sure that the clutch pedal does not hit in the floor board, thereby preventing the clutch from entering as far as it should.

Can you tell me what I may use on the brake bands to make the brakes better? The lining does not wear out and the adjustment is good, but no matter how hard I press on the pedal the car does not stop as it should.

Ans.—Try using a little belt dressing compound, such as is used to prevent slipping on pulleys in a machine shop. You should be able to obtain this at most any hardware or general supply store.

I have a 1914 Ford that starts hard and after running a minute or so stops. If you open the throttle it seems to choke and fire on only one cylinder. I have tried all kinds of adjustment on the carburetor, but it does not have any effect. There is also a knock in the motor. It is not always present, but appears at times and then stops. It is usually heard when the motor races. I have taken up all the bearings, but still it is present, and the wrist pins are all right. There is also a loss of power.

Ans.—The float valve of carburetor may close too soon, making the level of the gasoline too low. The level should be about 1/16 of an inch below the top of the nozzle. The knock may be caused by loose cam, shift bearings or the motor may be loose in the frame.

Will you please give me the following information: I have a Gray & Davis starting and lighting system on my car. The battery seems to be O. K., as the starter works fine, but when I switch on the lights they don't show up as bright as they should; they keep getting dimmer, but if the engine is running they seem to be all right. Might also state that some of the insulation on the cable that runs from the starter to the battery is worn off and the copper wires are visible, but I have covered same with tape, but still get no good results. The lights also burn out quite frequently. W. R.

Ans.—The fuses may be loose in the connections, or the wires attached to the battery may not make good contact. The lamps are not of proper voltage. This trouble may be remedied by purchasing lamps of a higher voltage.

Will you kindly inform me through your columns how to attach and wire an electric spot searchlight on a Maxwell 1916 car.

Ans.—Firmly attach the light in the position desired, installing the switch in a convenient place. Then wire as follows: From one terminal of searchlight lead a wire to the frame of the car and fasten it securely. The lead one from the other terminal to one terminal of switch and one from the remaining terminal of switch to the centre battery terminal. If a six volt lamp is used, or to the end terminal if a twelve volt lamp is used.

My engine does not heat up very much. Can you kindly give me the cause and detailed remedy?

Ans.—If the engine is in a motor boat close the sea cock enough to allow the cylinder to get warm. If in an automobile cover the lower part of the radiator with canvas to reduce the cooling area of the radiator. The cylinders should be so hot that the hand may be held on them only a short time.

I have a six-cylinder Matheson, 1910 model, with Bosch ignition system. I have just gone over the wiring, but when I turn the switch on the battery all cylinders are firing at the same time. The one that is set to fire at that time has a heavier spark than the others. The motor will run, but naturally misses badly. Can you advise me through the columns of the paper what the trouble may be.

Ans.—Either the wire leading from No. 1 terminal on the coil to battery breaker is disconnected or the breaker points do not make good contact, thus allowing the vibrator to operate continuously. Look over the wiring carefully, clean the breaker points, and notice if they open and close firmly.

GAINS FOR ALLIES

opposite Clerly where the French are within four miles of Peronne.

London is less specific in reporting the British gain in the official bulletin announcing merely "further progress at certain important points." The beating off of German attacks on the new British positions near Thiepval also is recorded.

German War Report

Berlin today claims that the fighting of last night on the front of the allied offensive in the west did not result in serious impairment of the German position.

Captured by Allies

Paris announces the capture of more than 5000 prisoners by the French in the new offensive operations along the Somme. The total taken by the allies is unofficially estimated at 15,000 and the aggregate German losses as no fewer than 60,000. The Germans announce the taking prisoner of more than 300 British.

In Verdun Region

In the Verdun region the Germans apparently have not lessened their pressure to any appreciable extent. They still hold possession of the important Triaumont works, have repulsed French attacks in that region, and are heavily bombarding the French lines there, probably in preparation for a further thrust. West of the Meuse they were repulsed in attacks on the French left in the Avocourt sector.

Breach in Lines Repaired

On the eastern front the breach in the German lines made in the Baranovitch region, about midway between Vimor and Zwick, has been repaired, according to Berlin but the Russians returned immediately to the attack after having once been driven out of the captured positions. The battle continues.

IMPORTANT GAINS FOR EXTENSIVE POWERS ON ALL WAR FRONTS

LONDON, July 5.—Pressure of the entente allies on the central powers continues without abatement, and while nowhere has any great amount of territory been recovered, important strategic gains are claimed on the western, eastern and Italian fronts. So far as the western front is concerned, the first phase of the Anglo-French offensive is believed to be nearing the end. Both north and south of the Somme the French and British are engaged in organizing positions, and the successes of the entente allies reported to have caused a renewal of the propaganda of pro-entente politicians in both Greece and Rumania.

On the eastern front the breach in the German lines made in the Baranovitch region, about midway between Vimor and Zwick, has been repaired, according to Berlin but the Russians returned immediately to the attack after having once been driven out of the captured positions. The battle continues.

On the Italian front the Italian army, after regaining territory in the Trentino, are reverting to their original plan of campaign and are attacking along the lower Isonzo, where they have gained some lesser successes.

Russians Raid Hungary
Important news comes from Petrograd. Russian advance guards on Gen. Letichitsky's extreme left are engaged with Austrian rear guards on the spurs of the Carpathians and unofficial reports say Cossacks have even been raiding Hungary. Gen. Letichitsky's right has opened a passage in the connection of the rear of the entire Austrian front—Kolomea-Stanislaw-Lemberg—

P. F. SULLIVAN TESTIFIES

Movies and Jitneys Blamed for Large Loss in Revenue to Bay State by President of Road

BOSTON, July 5.—Moving pictures and jitney buses were blamed for a large loss in revenue to the Bay State Street Railway company by President P. F. Sullivan while testifying today before the public service commission at the six cent fare inquiry. He declared that the automobile buses were costing his company from $200,000 to $400,000 a year. A total of 20,000 automobiles were registered within the territory of the Bay State company, he stated. The moving picture theatre has injured the trolley amusement park, President Sullivan said, as people now attend the neighborhood theatre rather than the parks on the trolley lines.

President Sullivan will be cross-examined tomorrow.

ALLIES GOING TO WIN

Viscount Bryce Delivers Important Speech—What Allies are Fighting For

LONDON, July 5.—Presiding today at a luncheon given by the Pilgrims to James M. Beck, former assistant attorney general of the United States, Viscount Bryce said he had received an address signed by some Americans, a large proportion of whom had come from Germany, saying "the war must end in a draw; why not make peace at once and save further bloodshed?"

He would tell the guests of the day, Viscount Bryce continued, why neither the British nor the allies could follow that advice. He yielded to none in his love of peace but he declared "we cannot agree to any such peace as is suggested either by these gentlemen or by the German government. In the first place we do not think this war will be a 'draw.' The allies are going to win."

We believe this not merely because our army in France is driving back the Germans, nor because Russian troops have made a brilliant advance, nor because the soldiers of France have been standing like a rock with magnificent valor against the German attacks made on Verdun. We believe it because the allies will prove to be stronger on land than the Germans and because we hold unshaken and unshakable control of the sea.

"Secondly, peace cannot be made now because the German government is not prepared to give any terms we could accept. The German government may know they are going to be beaten but the German people do not yet know it. They are ignorant of the true state of facts and their government, which has fed them with while the occupation of Delatyn, for which the Russians are making, would sever the communications of Gen. von Boehmer's army.

Hindenburg and Mackensen at Kovle

Both Field Marshal von Hindenburg and Field Marshal von Mackensen are reported to have arrived at Kovle direct operations designed to break the Russian line in Volhynia.

The latest official despatches contain claims by both sides to successes in this region. Press despatches this morning emphasize the importance of the Russian victory near Baranovitch where the latest stroke of Emperor Nicholas' forces has been delivered. Meanwhile the Balkans are attracting more attention than for some time. Military activities are being revived and the successes of the entente allies reported to have caused a renewal of the propaganda of pro-entente politicians in both Greece and Rumania.

FRENCH HAVE CAPTURED LINE OF GERMAN TRENCHES EAST OF CURLU

PARIS, July 5.—The French have captured a line of German trenches east of Curly, the war office announced today. They have captured also Sormont farm, facing Clerly.

The French resumed the offensive during the night, on both sides of the Somme. South of the Somme they made further progress toward the river particularly at Sormont farm. This position is on the left bank, opposite Clerly. All the region between the farm and Hill 63 on the road leading from Flaucourt to Barleux is now dominated by the French.

After a heavy bombardment the Germans captured part of Belle-en-Santerre, but the French quickly expelled them, taking the entire village. The Germans still hold part of the town of Estrees, where severe fighting is still in progress. German attacks on French positions were stopped by the French fire.

The number of prisoners taken thus far exceeds 9000. The number of cannon captured has not been ascertained.

MERRIMACK RIVER WORK

WILLIAM McNARY SAYS IT WILL GO TO CONGRESS IN THE FALL FOR DEFINITE ACTION

BOSTON, July 5.—Chairman William McNary of the harbor and land commission has announced that the board, which under the act of this year is to be supplemented by the new waterways commission, is practically ready to hand over a clean slate to its successors.

The Merrimack river project, which was completed a year or more ago, so far as the surveys with which the harbor and land commission is concerned, is in a way of being favorably settled by the engineers. The chances are now, McNary says, that it will go to congress in the fall and an appropriation made to develop the river from Newburyport to Pawtucket falls in Lowell.

JACK DILLON WINS AGAIN

KNOCKED OUT JIM FLYNN IN FOURTH ROUND OF BOUT AT BARTLESVILLE, OKLA.

BARTLESVILLE, Okla., July 5.—Jack Dillon maintained his reputation as the giant killer when he knocked out Jim Flynn, the Pueblo fireman, at Dewey yesterday, in the fourth round of their scheduled 15-round battle. The fight came after one minute and 40 seconds of fighting.

Dillon tore into Flynn with smashing rights and lefts to the jaw as soon as they came out of their corners. He floored Flynn twice for a count of eight, and the last time when Flynn was down he did not get up for half a minute.

Flynn staggered to his corner in the arms of his seconds, and it was several seconds before the crowd of 10,000 fans realized that the fight was over. In only one round did Flynn show any of his old-time speed and cunning, and that was in the second round, when he landed several times on Dillon's face and head, but he lacked the punch, and his blows did not harm Dillon.

Ed Cochran, a sporting editor of Kansas City, refereed the match.

Flynn was affected by the sun, the battle having been staged in an open air arena. He was not in the best of condition, while Dillon was in perfect trim. Dillon pulled down $5000 as his share of gate receipts, while Flynn received $4000. Dillon will soon leave for Australia, where he meets Darcy, heavyweight champion of Australia. It was announced yesterday that Frank Morris, Sapulpa engineer, and Carl Moran will probably be matched for a 15-round battle at Dewey on Labor day.

WRESTLING WINS PURITAN CUP
MARBLEHEAD, July 5.—The speedy gloom fella, ex-cited by E. Walter Clark, of Philadelphia, yesterday won the race for the Puritan cup, one of the most coveted yachting trophies on the Atlantic seaboard, in the annual regatta of the Eastern Yacht club.

In a light, easterly wind with thick mist and showers, the sailboats over the line with a margin of more than two minutes to spare, on corrected time, under the Britomart, owned by Harold S. Wheelock of this town.

The Squad had a comparatively easy win in the race for the New York 40-footers.

In Class P the Britomart won the most closely contested race of the day.

The Sham, owned by R. T. Paine, 2d, of Boston, and the Timandra, owned by John B. Fallon of Boston, were the respective winners in the L and E class events.

KILLED BY BLOW ON JAW
LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 5.—Bert Coffey, 21 years of age, champion flyweight of the Olympic club of San Francisco, suffered fatal injury here Monday during the last round of a four round amateur boxing contest with Frank Dolan of Los Angeles.

Coffey received a blow on the jaw and staggered into a clinch. When the boxers broke, Coffey fell to the floor, striking on his chin. He died a few minutes later.

FEW STANDING CHANGES
There were no changes in the American league standing as a result of the Independence day combats.

The New York Giants fell from fourth to sixth place in the Tanager league.

The Cardinals got out of last place and the Reds got into it, and the Cubs and Pirates each moved up a notch.

JESSE BURKETT'S RELEASE

LAWRENCE PLAYERS SAY JESSE WAS THEIR FRIEND AND STOOD FOR THEIR RIGHTS

The Lawrence Telegram says that players on the down-river team are up in arms over the release of Jesse Burkett. It quotes one man as follows:

"Here goes our best friend. He's a good fellow, but he's a trouble maker. He's a hard job on his hands to take Burkett's place."

"It was not Burkett's fault that the team has been losing, but the fault lies directly with Sullivan. How can he expect us to go out and play baseball every day and not get anything for it? We are not in this game to pass the time away. It's the means of our livelihood, and we are entitled to our pay when it is due."

"Jesse fought for us all the way and he kept continually after Sullivan to pay the players the money due them. Sullivan didn't like this, but Burkett told him that the players had a right to their money. The result of this shows that Sullivan didn't like to be bothered, and the easiest way out for him was to release Burkett and get one of his friends as manager, whom he could handle."

BOTH GAMES POSTPONED

LOWELL AND LAWRENCE FAILED TO EVEN GET IN ONE GAME OF HOLIDAY BILL.

Lowell and Lawrence were the only cities of the Eastern league that were rained out of Fourth of July baseball. In the morning when the game was scheduled to be played at Spaulding park the clouds let loose and although the Lawrence players were on hand ready to enter the fray there was a chance. Down in Lawrence the afternoon game was just as disagreeable and the result was the same.

All other teams in the Eastern league played their two scheduled holiday games. It rained in Lynn but that team was in Portland all day. Games were played in all the other cities though the attendances were somewhat marred by the dull and threatening weather.

The Fourth was looked forward to by Eastern league magnates as a sort of a "come back" day for reverses in the past, owing to the bad spring. But in Lowell and Lawrence owners received no benefit from the holiday and the other cities were disappointed. What effect this will have on the future of the league remains to be seen.

DIAMOND DAZZLES

Cleveland's experiment of numbering the baseball players as a help to the fans in identifying the men on the field may have a far-reaching effect. With the elaborate system of scoreboards at some of the parks in the last few years, the need of numbers has not been so largely felt. For all that, Lee Pohl has adopted the simple and natural way, to say nothing of the cheapest method, to give information to the fans which is so essential to their complete enjoyment of the game. Here's the hope that every team will follow the lead!

Ben Johnson, like Charles Webb Murphy, knows full well that it pays to advertise. He is now quoted as saying that baseball is damaged by the growing practice of sending in a book of minor hitters and changing pitchers on the slightest provocation. Ben Johnson might as easily change the course of the sun as to lay down any rule to control the mental workings of such men of strong initiative and sharp judgment as John J. McGraw, George Stallings, Pat Moran and the like.—Exchange.

New York fans would welcome Slim Salter to the Giants, but they would resent the loss of Jeff Tesreau. It seems well, then, that John J. McGraw withdrew his offer to exchange him for the Yankees.—New York World.

If the Yankees do not acquire the same notion about being unable to bat at the pole grounds, they should fortify themselves by the lead, which they have gained by consistent work under various handicaps, while playing on their own diamond. Just at present the Chicago White Sox are loquacious, and Detroit too will not be easy to beat.

DE PALMA WINS AUTO DERBY
FORT SNELLING, Minn., July 5.—Palma de Palma yesterday won the 150-mile automobile derby. Altken was second and Christians was third. The time was 1 hour 35 minutes 40.24 seconds. De Palma's average speed was 91.05 miles per hour.

At the hour set for the race the drivers assembled and the would not have been until the $20,000 prize fund had been placed with the association officials or other adequate guarantee provided. Finally $5000 in cash was raised, a check for 12,000 given and an order for speedway bonds to the extent of $100,000 issued as a guarantee for the check.

EASTERN LEAGUE COMMENT

The next home game is Monday with Lawrence.

President Roach has suspended Roland "Cuke" Barrows for failing to report on July 3, as was agreed upon. On June 23 Barrows was given a 10-day leave of absence and a few days afterward played with the Gardner, Me. team. Notice of the suspension has been filed with President John A. Parrell of the National Association of Minor leagues.

Sam Pouliot, the South Ends' star twirler, did not have a chance to work against Lawrence yesterday. He will probably be given an opportunity later in the season.

The Lawrence club, under its new management, is claiming Alex Pearson. Owner Sullivan claims Jesse Burkett had no right to release the pitcher. They assert that no player is released unless papers are signed by the president of the club and in Pearson's case this was not done.

Jesse Burkett reports to Lawrence daily and intends to do so throughout the season. He has an ironclad contract and the club will have to pay him his full season's salary.

Lefty Fortune and Paddy Martin of the New London team are the pitchers in the Eastern league. Each has won eight and lost two. Leroy of Springfield has won seven and lost two. "Zeke" Lohman still leads in the number of games won. "Zeke" has won 11 and lost five games which is good work for a second division team.

Bud Welsler, the New London slugging outfielder, has passed Hammond in the race for batting honors in the Eastern league. Welsler's average is now .371 and Hammond is just five points behind him. Joe Kilbullen is hitting at a .340 clip.

An item published Monday in a Fitchburg paper states that two Eastern league teams are striving hard to get into Fitchburg. One of the teams is Lowell, says the article, and although no purchasers could be found the local owners decided to transfer the team to Fitchburg and take a chance on the gate receipts. Fitchburg fans expect the change to be made next week.

Andrew F. Roach, owner of the Lowell club, denies that any agreement, verbal or written, has been made with the Fitchburg parties. The fans and business men of that city think that Fitchburg would give a ball club much better support than Lowell has done thus far and point that out as an argument to transfer the team. But the Lowell management has not yet decided what action to take and the team will remain here for the present, at least.

The Fitchburg writer says that the action of the Lowell club in doubting the Fitchburg men last spring would not have a tendency to make the team the most popular in the circuit and the fans are hoping the other manager will go through with his plans to fight Lowell for the privilege of making the transfer. He says that Fitchburg also wants an experienced manager with several seasoned ball players.

TOASTS U.S. AND WILSON

PREMIER BRIAND GUEST AT BANQUET GIVEN BY AMERICAN CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

PARIS, July 5.—Premier Briand was the principal guest at the Fourth of July banquet given last night by the American chamber of commerce. In offering a toast to the United States and President Wilson, the premier said:

Writing Charter in Blood

"The Sons of the American Revolution, thrilled to the depths of their souls, feel instinctively that the present conflict is the last and most terrible convulsion of the age-long struggle between liberty and tyranny. They know that the allies, forced violently from the peace in the interests of which, notwithstanding the injustice on which it was based, they had imposed silence upon their most sacred aspirations, look forward to the dazzling promise of the full emancipation of humanity and the absolute respect of national aspirations and desires. They are writing in their blood the charter that shall free the world.

"To the battered cohorts who in the days of old saved liberty on the hills

AMERICANS NOT RASH

FOURTH OF JULY CELEBRATION

—OUT TO GET THE "BEST MEN"

BRIDGEHAMPTON, N. Y., July 5.—Charles E. Hughes, speaking at the nearby village of East Hampton today, told a Fourth of July audience that what America needs just now above all other things is an intelligent comprehension of the ideals of democracy.

He asserted that the nation needs more than thrills in its patriotism, and said his dream of America was of a country inspired by its best men actuated by no thought of self. He devotedly hoped, he said, for a new birth of the sentiment of unity from the country's present peril.

"We are not a rash people," he said, "we are not filled with a spirit of militarism; we are not anxious to get into trouble, but if anybody thinks the spirit of service and sacrifice is lost and that we have not got the old sentiment of self-respect, he does not understand the United States."

Mr. Hughes motored over from his summer home here to review the huge Independence parade and had not intended to address the crowd. He consented, however, to speak briefly.

GERMANS HONOR JULY 4

STEAMERS MOORED AT EAST DOCK

PROFUSELY DECORATED

OTHER CRAFT IN HOLIDAY DRESS

BOSTON, July 5.—Shipping in the harbor yesterday was profusely decorated in honor of Independence day. As usual, the navy yard led the display with a dozen or more warships lastefully dressed out in flags and streamers. The German steamers Kronprinzessin Cecilie, Amerika, Köln, Cincinnati, Wilhelm and Wittekind, moored at East Boston, observed the day by dressing ship, and on the Cecilie band concerts were held during the day. Among the British liners decorated were the Cambrian, Novian, Prince George and Devonian, which nearly all American vessels had the international code flags struck over the masts. Harbor ferries and tugs displayed large American flags.

The city, following its annual custom, operated the ferries to and from East Boston free of charge. Scores of youngsters took advantage of the opportunity to sail across the harbor.

At noon the cutter Grusham, anchored on Rowe's wharf, fired a salute of 21 guns, as did the navy yard, and the forts in the lower harbor.

A QUARTER CENTURY AGO

The accidental shooting, such as occurred in Lowell, on Sunday evening of July comes around, though seldom with fatal result as was the case on Sunday. It was over a quarter of a century ago, and at that time the old Sun reported an accident to a daughter of Robert E. Crowley, then a very little girl, who while in front of her home was struck over the eye by a wad from a pistol exploded by a boy who was passing. Happily the accident did not result seriously. The old Sun reported 11 accidents on July 4th quarter of a century ago.

The Carpet Weavers

There are few if any carpet weavers employed in Lowell at the present time, where quarter of a century ago there were many and the Carpet Weavers' union was a large and prosperous organization. At its semi-annual election quarter of a century ago the union elected the following officers: "President, George A. McAlone; vice president, John N. Galvin; recording secretary, D. Greenleaf; treasurer, Arthur A. Fadden; financial secretary, Gussie Hagle; sergeant-at-arms, John P. McCaffrey; board of trustees, L. A. Millett; John P. Clough; Josephine Cox, Nellie McNulty, Josie Connors; delegates to the Central Labor union, John C. Hart, George A. McAlone, John N. Galvin."

Water in Beant's Court

Says the Sun of quarter of a century ago: "An artesian well has been sunk in Beant's court, off Gorham street. A good supply of water was found at a depth of 225 feet. The water flows into this well at the rate of 15 gallons a minute."

According to report, another kind of liquid has been known to flow in there at a correspondingly voluminous rate, in more recent days.

Dead Fish in River

Says the old Sun: "The dead fish floating in the river just below this city are believed to be caused by attempts to pass up the Concord river, the waters of which at present are so poisoned with dyestuffs and chemicals that are poured into them from the establishments along its banks. The dead fish are mostly suckers."

Handled the Superintendent a Brick. The old Sun informs us: "Supt. Bray has saved for Supt. Lawton the first slate and a nail that held it to the roof of the old high school building, that were taken down in the work of demolition, which began this week. The first brick taken from the walls was also saved for the same purpose."

Handing a faithful superintendent a brick, just when he is about to retire from the service looks rather suspicious, though there is no doubt that Dick Bray meant nothing unkind. Superintendent of Schools Lawton retired from the school department at the close of the school year quarter of a century ago, and the same issue of the Sun that contained the above also had the following:

"The school board had an important meeting on Monday night and elected Arthur K. Whitcomb principal of the Varum school to succeed Supt. Lawton who has resigned. Principal Howe of the Colburn school was elected to fill the vacancy at the Varum and the Colburn school was merged with the Training school, and Mrs. Dwyer was made principal with a salary of $1800."

Superintendent Whitcomb remained in office over 20 years and then retired to be subsequently elected principal of the Greenhalge school in Centerville which was constructed during his incumbency.

Old Time College Boys. The Sun of quarter of a century ago contains the following account of an outing held at that time by the young men who were attending the different Catholic colleges, as follows:

"The annual outing of the Catholic colleges of Lowell was held at Island, Thursday, and was quite successful. Quite a number went to the island by the steamer 'May Queen' at 2:30 o'clock, the remainder going at 6 o'clock. All the facilities for amusement were freely utilized and dancing was enjoyed to the music of the Crescent orchestra. The best feature of the sports was the baseball game between a nine chosen from Holy Cross college boys and a team made up of boys from the other colleges. The teams lined up as follows:

Holy Cross: Donohue, C. Cosgrove, C. O'Connor, B. McSorley, D. Hennessy, S. McCuskey, B. Savage, C. Mulligan, R. O'Connell, C. Smith, Jr. The Holy Cross team won by a score of 7 to 6. The 100 yards dash was won by Richard McCuskey with George Pickard 2nd. The quarter-mile was won by George Pickard with Joseph Hennessy 2nd. The last race was a ladies' race in costume, consisting of a Jennie-Miller skirt, a scarlet blouse and a yachting cap. Three young ladies entered and the result was so much in doubt that all three were declared winners. The party arrived home about 10 o'clock after a most enjoyable trip. About 150 ladies and gentlemen attended the outing."

IT WILL REMAIN FOR PRESENT AT LEAST—REAL TEST NEXT WEEK—ATTRACTION THURSDAY

The Lowell baseball team will not be transferred to Fitchburg or any other city until fans have another opportunity to show their interest in baseball. This was learned this forenoon when Owner Andrew P. Roach stated that the scheduled games would be played here next week. The interest of fans will then be given a real test with a special attraction on Thursday and some encouragement is not given at that time, Lowellites may have to say "good-bye" to baseball.

THE LOWELL BOYS' ANXIOUS

They want to move to Boston—EXISTED "BOYS" MUST REMAIN

It was rumored in amuse circles here this forenoon that at least a part of the recruits now in camp at South Framingham would leave for the Mexican border to join their companies Thursday of this week or some date soon afterward. Officers at the Westford street armory today could not verify the report and said that they had been unable to obtain any information relative to the departing of the recruits from the officers in camp. It is said that some of the militiamen drilling at Framingham informed friends yesterday that they expected to leave this week, probably Thursday. Several were given a 15 hours furlough Monday and were thereby allowed to spend the holiday at their homes. They said that the boys in camp were anxious to get started for the south and displayed much interest in the rumor about going Thursday.

By a new ruling announced at the camp yesterday it will do no good for parents to plead with Col. Warren E. Sweetser for the release of their boys. Hereafter such questions must be referred to the secretary of war, and has been fairly with regard to his age he is liable to punishment.

IT WILL REMAIN FOR PRESENT AT LEAST—REAL TEST NEXT WEEK—ATTRACTION THURSDAY

The Lowell baseball team will not be transferred to Fitchburg or any other city until fans have another opportunity to show their interest in baseball. This was learned this forenoon when Owner Andrew P. Roach stated that the scheduled games would be played here next week. The interest of fans will then be given a real test with a special attraction on Thursday and some encouragement is not given at that time, Lowellites may have to say "good-bye" to baseball.

THE LOWELL BOYS' ANXIOUS

They want to move to Boston—EXISTED "BOYS" MUST REMAIN

It was rumored in amuse circles here this forenoon that at least a part of the recruits now in camp at South Framingham would leave for the Mexican border to join their companies Thursday of this week or some date soon afterward. Officers at the Westford street armory today could not verify the report and said that they had been unable to obtain any information relative to the departing of the recruits from the officers in camp. It is said that some of the militiamen drilling at Framingham informed friends yesterday that they expected to leave this week, probably Thursday. Several were given a 15 hours furlough Monday and were thereby allowed to spend the holiday at their homes. They said that the boys in camp were anxious to get started for the south and displayed much interest in the rumor about going Thursday.

By a new ruling announced at the camp yesterday it will do no good for parents to plead with Col. Warren E. Sweetser for the release of their boys. Hereafter such questions must be referred to the secretary of war, and has been fairly with regard to his age he is liable to punishment.

DEDICATED BY PRESIDENT

Speaks at New Home of A. F. of L.
—Getting Up Fighting Blood is Long Way Out of Trouble

WASHINGTON, July 5.—President Wilson yesterday dedicated "to common counsel and a common understanding" a labor temple erected here as the new home of the American Federation of Labor.

He told a large audience gathered at the dedicatory exercises that the greatest barrier to industrial peace had been the difficulty of insuring candid and dispassionate conference and that "getting up fighting blood" was "the long way and not the short way" of securing rights.

Heckler Taken Out

The president's address was interrupted twice by a woman suffragist, who sought to heckle him regarding his opposition to a national suffrage amendment. She was silenced by secret service men and finally taken away by the police. The Congressional Union announced last night that the effort was the first step in a new campaign to impress democratic leaders with the advisability of passing the amendment at this session of congress.

Mr. Wilson's plea for calm counsel brought repeated applause from the crowd, who apparently interpreted it as having an indirect bearing on the Mexican crisis. The president, however, did not refer to Mexico or any other foreign country by name.

Fighting Is the Long Way

"The way we generally strive for our rights," he said, "is by getting our fighting blood up, and I venture to say that it is the long way and not the short. If you came at me with your fists doubled I think I can promise you that mine will double as fast as yours, but if you come at me and say, 'Let us sit down and take counsel together and, if we differ with one another, understand why it is that we differ, just what the points at issue are,' we presently will find that what the points in dispute are, are few and the points on which we agree are many, and that if we only have the patience and the candor and the desire to get together we will get together."

The president scarcely had begun to speak when the first interruption came. The questioner, Miss Mabel Vernon of the Woman's party, was standing only a few feet from him, and when he declared that in his position he was not permitted to think of any one class of persons, she shouted:

Sought To Be Ejected

"If you truly desire to serve all classes, why do you block the national suffrage amendment now before congress? Four million women in this country."

The White House secret service men made their way to Miss Vernon and quickly silenced her. She tried unsuccessfully to induce them to eject her from the crowd. When she again sought to interrupt the president, a few minutes later, however, city police led her away from the speaker's stand. She was not arrested.

The president apparently was undisturbed by the incident. He paused upon the first question and turned to look at Miss Vernon, who stood with Miss Alice Paul and Miss Maude Younger, members of the Congressional Union, but he paid no heed to the second interruption.

Labor Not a Commodity

Nothing that the president said aroused such enthusiasm as his praise of that section of the Clayton act declaring that labor is not a commodity. "I am sorry," he said, "that there were any judges in the United States who had to be told that. It is so obvious that it seems to me that that section of the Clayton act were a return to the primer of humanity, but I judges had to have the primer opened before them, I am willing to open it."

Gompers Supports Wilson

"America," he said, "did not come into existence to make one more nation, but to make a family of nations, to show its strength and to exercise mastery. America opened her doors to everybody who wanted to be free and to have the same opportunity that everybody else had to make the most of his faculties and his opportunities, and America will retain its greatness as long as it retains and seeks to realize those ideals. No man ought to suffer injustice in America. No man ought in America to fail to see the deep dictate of humanity."

Accidents on Holiday

TWO BOYS KILLED AND MANY INJURED—CHILD SHOT BY COUSIN

BOSTON, July 5.—Two fatalities and scores of serious accidents were reported from various parts of New England last night as a result of the celebration of the Fourth.

Cushing Morse, 8 years old, of Athol, was accidentally shot and killed by his cousin, George Peckham, Jr., 13, of Fitchburg, while at an outing in Athol. Loose powder and a lighted cigarette proved fatal to John Bartini, 16, son of William Bartini of Lee. The boy died in the House of Mercy hospital, Pittsfield, at 8 o'clock yesterday morning. He was preparing to use some gunpowder in a miniature cannon at 10 o'clock, Monday night, when a spark from his cigarette ignited the powder and the flame enveloped his torso and head.

Arthur Hall, a 7-year-old Worcester boy, was blinded in both eyes when a lighted firecracker exploded in a box of gunpowder.

Harold Holt, 55, a prominent citizen of Plainfield, N. H., lost his left hand when an old shotgun that he was using in the Plainfield celebration exploded.

William Malley, 34, of Saxtonville, a widely known ball player, lost his right hand as the result of a torpedo exploding while he held it.

A box of 75 .22-calibre cartridges exploded and literally filled John and Ruth Calahan, young children of Boston, with lead. Many of the cartridges entered the right leg, arm and face of Ruth, 11 years old, and 35 cartridges struck John, 13, in the face, right arm, right leg and chest. Though both were seriously injured, neither is expected to die, as the bullets did not strike in vital places.

William Tobin, 16, of 110 Pearl street, Somerville, was shot in the right leg by a cartridge that he dropped in a stove. He went to the Boston City hospital for treatment.

Edward Cheever, 13, of 2985 Washington street, received a bullet wound in the right side of the chest as a result of a bullet exploding in a bonfire which he was watching at Blagdon and Washington streets.

John Logan, 18, of 415 Eustis street, was shot in the left knee while he and two other boys were experimenting with a revolver at Taber street and Hancock avenue. Logan was treated at the City hospital.

Fifteen other accidents were reported in Boston on the holiday.

SMALLPOX AT SAN JUAN

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, June 30.—The epidemic of smallpox which the sanitary authorities have been fighting for the past six weeks is now considered under control after a total of 159 cases have entered the quarantine hospital here. So far more than 100,000 persons have been vaccinated and the authorities propose to put in force the compulsory feature of the health law, which will make it necessary for every inhabitant to submit to vaccination. So far there have been no persons who have refused to submit to vaccination but the number voluntarily presenting themselves to the sanitary doctors has fallen off to a decided degree.

Prisoners from the penitentiary are being used to clean up the city as one means of ending the spread of the disease.

GRADUATE LIST

Lowell Commercial College Sends Out Class—Its 57th Year

The Lowell Commercial college closed its regular school year Friday, although it reopens July 10 for the summer session. This makes its 57th year. Owing to the fact that a large proportion of the class had already finished their course and left the city, no formal exercises were held. The Commercial college has adopted the plan of awarding diplomas as soon as a pupil completes his studies, instead of withholding them until June, consequently pupils are graduates at all times of the year.

There were several important events during the closing days. The picnic at Canobie Lake was thoroughly enjoyed by about fifty members of the class. A basket lunch was carried which was thoroughly appreciated. On Wednesday the school had the opportunity to witness a demonstration of the possibilities of the stenotype.

Mr. Clean Boring, who holds the title of international champion, took all kinds of dictation as fast as Mr. Kimball could dictate. One particularly hard civil service dictation was taken at the rate of 250 words per minute. Mr. Boring not only rose this back with no difficulty, but started at the end and read each word backward.

On Thursday the Royal Typewriter company sent their representative to the school to conduct examinations. Those who received the highest marks were Miss Pauline Vator, of Nashua; Miss Helen Gibson, of Nashua; Grace Biggerstaff, of Billerica; Edith Spinner, of Forge Village, Mass.; Sarah E. ## DEAD PILED UPON FIELD

CORRESPONDENT GIVES DETAILS OF GIGANTIC STRUGGLE IN PROGRESS IN NORTHERN FRANCE

PRESS CAMP IN FRANCE, July 4. London, July 5.—Facts of impressions came in overwhelming numbers to the press correspondent who is on the move morning and night trying to grasp the details of the gigantic struggle which is in progress in northern France. At every turn he realizes the immense forces of material and men that are being employed in this determined offensive.

Everywhere the eye can reach are perspiring and dust-laden soldiers hurled on the other side lines groups of peasants called out to the passing soldiers and the drivers of ammunition trains, endlessly going and coming, for the latest news. British and German wounded are seen lying off the field side by side, while processions of trucks reload shells and ambulances deliver wounded at the dressing stations to be passed on to waiting trains.

Where the British and French lines join the German and Italian lines, the khaki uniforms and varied kinds of transport vehicles. An automobile took the Associated Press correspondent today to a point to the battle field where a week ago had been in sight a range of German machine gunners. They were sitting about among the shell craters wrought by the terrific fire of the British guns. German rifles were being gathered in piles and German dead in rows for burial. The correspondent was offered captured German helmets on all hands by the soldiers, German officers' revolvers and even a pair of binoculars.

The change from the scenes presented by the monotonous trench warfare to those of an advancing army was amazing. From the ruins of the German positions between Montauban and Mamez the correspondent looked over the whole field toward the second great line of the defenses where the barbed wire entanglements were plainly discernible; from the field won by the British with its battle litter and silent shell holes, the spectator looked forward to where the battle still raged and beyond Fricourt to where the British were advancing to take another position. Men who were spoken of as "good luck" or "bad luck," which means that they had made the rush across the zone between the old British and German line against little opposition, or that some machine guns had been still in position or snipers had survived the shell fire.

As an instance of the amazing rapidity with which the British troops advance, a British colonel took his first real sleep since the fight began in a German dugout where his predecessor's candle still burned on the table.

KAISER'S GRANDSON HONOURED

BERLIN, July 5.—According to a traditional custom of the Hohenzollern house, Prince William, eldest son of Crown Prince Frederick William and her presumptive, was enrolled in the army yesterday, his 16th birthday anniversary. He was appointed a lieutenant of the 1st guard infantry.

The prince, like his great-grandfather, Emperor William I, who became a lieutenant in 1837, begins his military career in the midst of a great war.

Prince William also received an honorary command with the 3d guard, Landwehr regiment.

THE GLORIOUS FOURTH

Rain Stopped Semblance of a Celebration Except With the Youngsters—Midway Flooded

Yesterday was probably the quietest July 4 in the history of Lowell and one would have to hark back a long way to tramp up a year with poorer weather for Independence day. But there is always something to be thankful for. We should be thankful that we didn't have any great thing planned for the Fourth; no big parade or anything of that kind. Down in Lawrence everybody was on his or her tiptoes for great things had been planned for the celebration of Independence day. But there was great disappointment because of the weather and the big parade and the fireworks were planned, had to be postponed. It was an almost cruel blow and we should find some consolation in the thought that we didn't have any great plans with which the weather could interfere.

Even the little that was scheduled for entertainment here had to be postponed, including the band concert at Port Hill park, the Highland club grove and the commons. The Lowell Driving club had planned a splendid meet at Golden Cove and that, too, had to be postponed.

About the only thing in the nature of a celebration was summed up in the national salute from Port Hill and the music of the chimes at St. Patrick's and St. Anne's churches. But despite the weather and all else that made for that dismal, miserable feeling, the Midway on the South common was well patronized as could be expected and the dreary drizzling rain was not sufficient to dampen the ardor of the fellow who invited the general public to take a chance at this or that. The sun didn't shine for the briefest moment and it was an awfully hard day to feel happy. But with so much of importance going on in the world the idiosyncrasy of the weather clerk is of little moment, for, through the sunshine and the rain the anxious eye of man is turned to blood-stained Europe and the Mexican border. The weather almost seemed a rebuke to those who would celebrate while nation is struggling against nation in the most right for right, freedom, or whatever other cause may be assigned.

There was some uncertainty as to whether we should have the sunrise, noon and sunset salutes on account of so many of the boys going to Mexico, but when it came to a showdown there wasn't any cause for worry along this direction as a gun squad from C company, Sixth Infantry, hauled a cannon to the summit of Fort Hill and blazed away.

The Midway was well patronized considering the weather, but there is nothing astounding any more about the way people take to fake and nonsense. And if the spectators who bought reservations there did not make a fortune it isn't up to the public to wear mourning on that account. The street railway and the jitneys had planned for a big business between this city and Lawrence, but there was little or nothing doing. It was stated that the traveling on the street railway didn't compare very favorably with the most ordinary day and the steam railroad had nothing to boast about. For the most part Lowell people stayed at home and tried to be content with what enjoyment they could find within the family circle and to bear as patiently as possible with their own or their neighbors' youngsters, testing the noise-making possibilities of the latest fish horns or the explosive properties of the new brands of firecrackers set off in tin canisters under a box or a nail keg. In Lowell the day counted as a period of duration only, but otherwise it was perhaps, the most negative in character that ever fell upon any city during the month of July.

At Chelmsford St. Hospital

The inmates of the Chelmsford street hospital enjoyed the Fourth in a quiet and pleasant manner. St. Martin Conley provided an excellent menu for the holiday dinner and a graphophone concert was given during the day. Three large phonographs were loaned to the inmates and the inmates listened to the latest selections. The dinner consisted of roast pork, mashed potato, green peas, candy and oranges. At supper there was mince pie, ice cream and bananas.

But Two Accidents

It was really a safe and sane Fourth for the record shows that but two minor accidents were reported and there was not a single fire. Of course the heavy downpour of rain was undoubtedly responsible for the absence of fires.

At 39 o'clock yesterday morning, the ambulance was called to the corner of Gorham and Lock streets, where Dora Stackpole was suffering from powder in her right eye. The accident occurred on the South common, a place of fireworks having exploded near her, the powder striking her eye. She was taken to St. John's hospital where it was found that she was not seriously hurt.

Peter Farrell, of 146 Abbott street, Lawrence, was found in Lucy Larcom park in Anne street shortly after six o'clock yesterday morning, suffering from a fracture of the right leg. According to his story, he was struck by a freight car in Dutton street and managed to reach the park but could go no further. The ambulance was summoned and the man was taken to St. John's hospital where the fracture was reduced.

QUESTION OF MAGNETOS

THREE ROBINSON MACHINES ARE NOW EQUIPPED WITH THE RIGHT KIND—MACHINES ALL RIGHT

When the three Robinson machines for the fire department arrived in this city they were equipped with a magneto of a make which Commissioner Putnam did not sanction and the company generously agreed to install the make which the head of the fire department desired. These were ordered and already one has been installed on the pumping engine, but owing to an error in sending the two sent for the combination apparatus were not of the proper type and it was necessary to re-order.

The other day in speaking of the fire drill it was stated that the pumping engine was not on hand owing to magneto trouble. The trouble, however, was that the workmen were changing over the magneto and did not know that the machine was wanted for the drill. Otherwise there was nothing the matter with the machine. The new magneto was installed in a very short time and the machine was ready for service.

THE BAND CONCERTS

No date has been fixed for the band concerts postponed from yesterday. The dates will be fixed later.

JITNEY OPERATORS IN MORE TROUBLE

Five Lose License to Operate—
Must Have Chauffeur's License

Everything is not as pleasant as it might be for the jitney owners and operators in Lowell. To begin with the jitney operators have not any license, but that is probably more the fault of the city than the jitney men. There was a fight on between the men operating jitneys between this city and Lawrence as to "stations" in Lowell and this matter was fought out before the city council with the result that the city first to apply was granted a location in Paige street. The other jitney men have been kicking ever since and they promise to keep on kicking.

On account of the merry little war that has been going on, five of the jitney men have lost their right to operate automobiles until they make their peace with highway commissioners. For several months certain jitney drivers have been "getting by" on "operators" licenses—that is—licenses permitting them to drive cars without receiving remuneration therefor, and the fact that they have been collecting fares proves a violation of the "operators" license.

Recently a newcomer to the ranks of drivers, and the highway commissioners refuse to divulge his name—applied for an operator's license but in his application made certain statements which led the commission to believe that he should have a professional chauffeur's license. He was so advised, and immediately made a "holler." Other men in Lowell, he said, were doing just the same business, and were driving under "operators" licenses, and he insisted that he should be given the same kind of license.

Accordingly an investigator was sent to Lowell to find out how matters stood, and as a result of his report the commission has suspended the operators' licenses of Joseph Cordello, George M. Lanzieri, Henry Levine, Joseph McGlinchey and Andrew J. Welch. Meantime the investigation is still going on, and if the commission finds other men who have been operating as chauffeurs under an operator's license, they had better hasten to make application to the commission for the right kind of a license, or they will soon be without either.

PICTURES OF SOLDIERS

SENT HOME TO THEIR MOTHERS
BY A THOUGHTFUL WORCESTER GIRL

Mrs. Fred Tighe of 16 Cheney place received welcome souvenir of Camp Whitney for Fourth of July in the shape of a Kodak picture of her son, Private George Tighe, of Company M, who left his position in The Sun stereotype department to go to the front with the boys accompanied by a charming letter from Miss Kathryn Lynch, a Worcester girl, who took the picture during a visit to Camp Whitney. While she was passing through Company M's street with her camera slung over her shoulder, Private Tighe and some other boys jokingly cried out to her: "Please take our pictures." Miss Lynch, accordingly, lined them up and took pictures of the group, and the happy thought occurred to her to send copies to the folks at home, upon developing them. Accordingly she took their names and addresses, and upon her return to Worcester finished up a number of the pictures, one of which she sent to each of the mothers of the soldier boys, with a very nicely worded letter. It was a pleasant surprise for the folks at home, who greatly appreciate Miss Lynch's thoughtfulness.

TUG MERCURY IN FLAMES

CAPT WALL AND CREW ESCAPED
ONLY WITH DIFFICULTY—YES-
SEL REACHED

SCITUATE, July 5.—The tug Mercury caught fire off the coast here today and was headed by Capt. Wall and his crew. The vessel was aflame to an extent that endangered the lives of all aboard, and they escaped only with difficulty. It was believed the Mercury, which is owned by the Boston Towboat Co., would be an almost complete loss.

WAS PAID $10,450

James E. Kelly, whose land and buildings in Market street, and in the route of the Dummer street extension, were ordered seized by the municipal council last year, today was paid the sum of $10,450, which constitutes the assessed valuation of the property seized, plus six per cent interest from the time of entry. Mr. Kelly and his counsel, J. Joseph O'Connor, called at the city treasurer's office today and accepted the money, though it is understood that Mr. Kelly will later ask the court to appoint a jury to assess damages. By accepting the $10,450, his rights for further compensation in the matter, if the jury so views it, are not prejudiced in the slightest.

WAR WITH MEXICO HAS BEEN AVERTED

Carranza Backs Down in Reply to
United States and Opens Way for
Amicable Adjustment of Border
Situation Which Brought the Two Governments to Verge of War—
Points to Release of Troops as Proof of Mexico's Sincere Desire to Avoid Break—Text of Note

Text of Carranza's Note

The text of the note, as transmitted by Eliseo Arraondo, the Mexican ambassador designate, follows:

"WASHINGTON, D. C., July 4, 1916.—Mr. Secretary: I have the honor to transmit in continuation the text of a note I have just received from my government with instructions to present it to your excellency:

"Mr. Secretary:

"Referring to the notes of June 20 and 25 last I have the honor to say to your excellency that the immediate release of the Carrizal prisoners was a further proof of the sincerity of the desires of this government to reach a pacific and satisfactory arrangement of present difficulties. This government is anxious to solve the present conflict and it would be unjust if its attitude were misinterpreted.

"It was also the Mexican government that earnestly suggested a plan for cantonments along the boundary line during the conferences of Ciudad Juarez and El Paso. This government is disposed now, as it has always been, to seek an immediate solution of the two points which constitute the true cause of the conflict between the two countries, to wit: The American government believes 'reasonably' that the insecurity of its frontier is a source of difficulty and the Mexican government on its part believes that the stay of American troops on Mexican territory, aside from being a trespass on the sovereignty of Mexico, is the immediate cause of the conflicts. Therefore, the withdrawal of the American troops on one hand, and the protection of the border, on the other, are the two essential problems, the solution of which must be the directing object of the efforts of both governments.

"The Mexican government is willing to consider in a quick and practical way, and prompted by a spirit of concord, the remedies which should be applied to the present situation.

Favors Mediation

"Several Latin-American countries have offered their friendly mediation to the Mexican government and the latter has accepted it in principle. Therefore the Mexican government only awaits information that the government of the United States would be disposed to accept this mediation for the purpose mentioned above, or whether it is still of the belief that the same results may be attained by means of direct negotiations between both governments.

"In the meantime this government proposes to employ all efforts that may be at its disposal to avoid the recurrence of new incidents which may complicate and aggravate the situation. At the same time it hopes that the American government on its part may make use of all efforts to prevent also new acts of its military and civil authorities of the frontier that might cause new complications.

"I avail myself of this opportunity to reiterate to your excellency the assurance of my most distinguished consideration.

(Signed) "C. Aguirre."

"Having thus complied with higher instructions of my government it affords me pleasure to reiterate to your excellency the assurance of my highest consideration.

(Signed) "E. Arraondo."

WASHINGTON, July 5.—The crisis between the United States and Mexico virtually came to an end today when a friendly and conciliatory note from the de facto government was handed to Secretary Lansing and promptly communicated to President Wilson.

Formal statement of the attitude of the Washington government must await the president's action, but there is no doubt in the minds of the officials that the way has been opened for an amicable adjustment of the dispute as to the border situation which brought the two governments to the verge of war.

Secretary Lansing would make no comment. He gave the impression, however, that Carranza's suggestion that there is no pending question between the governments which cannot be readily answered by friendly negotiation meets with quick sympathy to avoid hostilities.

Mr. Lansing is known to share President Wilson's desire that hostilities be avoided if there is any possible way to safeguard American border interests without a clash with the Carranza government. The new Mexican com-

LOWELL DEFEATS LYNN IN FIRST GAME OF DOUBLE HEADER, 3 TO 1

Lowell and Lynn played a double header at Spalding park this afternoon. Despite the fact that these are the last games to be played in Lowell this week but 300 fans turned out, the threatening weather evidently keeping many enthusiasts away.

Lohman was on the mound for the home team in the first game, Kilhullen being on the receiving end of the battery. Williams did the twirling for the visitors and Carroll was behind the bat.

Umpire Keady was the decision maker and called the first game at two o'clock.

First Inning
Neither side scored in the first inning, the visitors securing one hit, while the home team was retired in one, two, three order.

Gleason, the first man up, was retired on strikes. Daley followed with a single to left. He started to steal second and Kilhullen made a throw to get the runner but there was no one there to receive the ball and the sphere went to centre field while Daley traveled to third. He died there, however, for Orcutt fumbled to Greenough and DeNoville sent grounders to Greenhalge and was out at first.

No runs, one hit, one error.

fice. Briggs drew a free pass. Kane singled over second base, killing the bases. Helfrich scored on Torphy's infield hit, Prysock to DeNoville. Lohman was third out on a grounder to Conley.

Third Inning
Conley sent a grounder to Helfrich and was out at first. Williams struck out. Gleason hit to Helfrich who threw wide to Greenough and it was necessary for the latter to leave the bag to get the ball and he could not get back to first in time to get the runner. Daley was third out on an easy grounder to Greenhalge.

No runs, no hits, one error.

Stimpson opened the latter half of the inning with a single to centre field and went to second on Greenough's sacrifice. Kilhullen sent a high fly to Porter and Helfrich fumbled to DeNoville.

IMPORTANT GAINS FOR ALLIES ON ALL FRONTS

French and British Advance on Both Sides of Somme—Italian and Russian Successes

Yard by yard the German lines are being pushed back by the entente allies under the steady hammering of their offensive movement on the western front. New progress for both the French and the British is reported by Paris and London today.

While keeping up the work of clearing the southern bank of the Somme in the field of their attack, the French are now pushing eastward from Courcelette north of that stream and have carried two lines of German trenches there.

The advance on the south bank included the capture of Sormont farm.

No runs, one hit, no errors.

Lowell scored two runs in the latter half of the seventh. Greenhalge beat out an infield hit and went to second on Briggs' sacrifice. Kane drew a base on balls and Torphy then followed with a single to left field killing the bases. Lohman drove Greenhalge home with a sharp one which Conley did well to stop. Stimpson hit to DeNoville, who threw to the plate getting Kane. Gleason fumbled Greenough's fly and Torphy scored. Gleason then made a wonderful play of Kilhullen's drive over second base, the Lynn player stopping the ball with his bare hand and throwing it to Prysock forcing Greenhalge at second.

Two runs, three hits, one error.

EPIDEMIC IN NEW YORK CAMP WHITNEY

525 Cases of Infantile Paralysis Reported—126 Persons Have Died—Many Leave City

NEW YORK, July 5.—The epidemic of infantile paralysis here has hastened the departure of thousands of families who usually leave town for the summer. Estimates made by the health department officials of the number of children who have been taken out of the city since the epidemic became serious, ran as high as 50,000 but this is the season when the city population is annually reduced by the summer exodus.

Thus far 525 cases of the disease have been reported to the board of health and 126 persons have died. It is most prevalent in the Italian quarter of the southern section of Brooklyn where the paralysis made its first appearance. High mortality continues to be the striking feature of the epidemic and the death toll has reached approximately that of the entire epidemic of 1907, when 2500 cases were reported.

Although 55 new cases and 25 deaths were reported yesterday the health commissioner said the outlook was "a little encouraging" as there were fewer true cases than reported on some previous days. Nevertheless he made requisition for fifty additional field nurses and 57 hospital nurses, together with domestics and orderlies.

The order of the health commissioner excluding children under 16 years of age from moving picture shows went into effect today.

Physicians say there is no known positive treatment for the disease but that the child's physique has to combat it with such aid as the doctors can give to lessen the probability of permanent injury. If a strain is allowed to fall upon the affected limb there is great danger of permanent paralysis, says the health commissioner.

INSPECT ALL TRAINS

CHICAGO, July 5.—Eighteen city physicians under the direction of Dr. John H. Robertson, health commissioner, were today watching incoming trains from the east as a precautionary measure against the possible development of an epidemic of infantile paralysis. It is planned to keep up the inspection of trains for two weeks or more.

So far no cases were reported from any of the eastern trains. An inspection of the city has resulted in one child being placed under observation.

NEW YORK, July 5.—The influence of the war in Europe upon American schools and the aid the schools may give in the maintenance of permanent peace were discussed today at the annual convention of the National Education association.

Recruits Make Merry Despite the Weather

—The Lowell Officers

Rain kept visitors from thronging Camp Whitney yesterday, but it in no wise affected the spirits of the 3,000 or more recruits and National guardsmen quartered there. Every late in the afternoon gave the embryo soldiers a chance to make merry and show that weather is no bar to men bent on making July 4 lively despite opposing odds or heavy weather.

Any day. The long list of scheduled field games were postponed to next Saturday or Sunday, and as a result the sports of the day were confined to the individual tents and to the great tent of the Y.M.C.A.

In the latter part of the day the recruits numbering about 400 held a parade and were led by the Sixth regiment band and a trio representing the "Spirit of '76."

Early in the forenoon officers of the Sixth regiment and the First Corps of cadets, most of them expert marksmen, started putting the recruits through a drill with pistols and rifles. The pistol range, which was partially completed by the second brigade before its departure for Texas, and which has been put into condition so that it is serviceable for the purpose of the recruits, was a busy place throughout most of the morning.

A rifle range was also arranged at a point in the rear of the arsenal. This gave the recruits an opportunity to get practice as marksmen. They used the regulation rifle with the 25-caliber magazine. The men were put through the aim drill with tripod under the direction of Sergeant James Stewart of the First Corps cadets, former member of the Massachusetts State Rifle team and the United States Police team. They were also given instruction in the use of the sling and sighting with regulation rifles at the target in the pistol butts. Each man was permitted to fire 10 shots at a distance of 75 feet. This latter practice was under the supervision of Major John M. Portal and Captain J. H. Keough, I.S.A.P.

This practice will be continued every morning. In case the men do not leave the camp this week they will be sent to the Wakefield range next week in battalions to take up regular outdoor rifle practice.

The work of examining the recruits progressed rapidly at the hospital tent and Colonel Warren E. Sweetser announced today evening that approximately 70 of the recruits had been examined. He said that as fast as the men were examined and passed they were being equipped with the regulation clothing. A supply sufficient for all the recruits has been on hand for several days.

In almost every company street men were receiving their uniforms during the greater part of the afternoon. All are being given a double inoculation against infectious diseases. One inoculation is against typhoid and the other against smallpox.

The recruits were also put through one short drill during the morning. This came at 7:30 o'clock, after which Colonel Sweetser announced a holiday. Sixth Regiment Band.

The following letter has been received:

RESISTANCE TO DISEASE

Debility is a loss of vitality, not affecting any one part of the body particularly but the system generally. It is dangerous because it reduces the body's resistance to disease.

When debility follows acute diseases, convalescence is slow and the strength does not return as it should. An attack of the grip often results in debility that persists for months. Everybody recognizes that the remedy for debility is to build up the blood because the blood goes to every part of the body and an improvement in its condition is quickly felt throughout the system. The problem in every case is to find something that will enrich the blood.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills suit most people's need because they are non-alcoholic and they really build up the blood and strengthen the nerves. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are useful for growing children and for men and women whose nervous energy has been overdrawn. Try them whenever your blood is thin.

Your druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or they will be sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes $2.50 by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Write today for free booklet on the blood and nerves.

Lieut. Charles J. Duffy of Company C, Sixth Infantry, Lowell, has been appointed supervisor of the construction of a field bakery, which is now being erected. As soon as the plant is completed a detail of bakers will be assigned from the Sixth.

The Lowell men who are acting as officers of the Sixth regiment at camp are as follows: Maj. Colby T. Kittredge, battalion commander; Lieut. Harry G. Sheldon, battalion adjutant; Lieut. W. C. MacBryne, headquarters commissary and acting battalion adjutant; George W. Crawford, acting regimental sergeant-major; and Edward A. Deslandes, acting battalion sergeant-major.

The three Lowell captains of the Sixth, Capt. James N. Greig, Capt. Walter R. Jones and Capt. George W. Patterson are also acting captains of Companies K, G and C respectively of the provisional regiment. They are being assisted by their respective lieutenants.

YOUNG MAN MURDERED

COMPANIONS DECLARE THAT STRANGER STABBED REINHOLD SCHINK, AGED 18

MANCHESTER, N. H., July 5.—The murder early yesterday morning of Reinhold Schink, 18 years old, a member of one of the oldest German families in this city, as he with three companions were spending the "night before" at Pine Island park, has not been solved by the police.

The companions of the young man, who were with him at the time of the tragic happening, according to Chief of Police Michael Hayes, tell conflicting stories concerning the manner of the fatal stabbing.

An autopsy will be held today and later an inquest will be conducted. The companions of young Schink and the three young men, who rushed to the scene of the stabbing when they heard cries for help, will be called as witnesses.

Two of the companions claim that Schink engaged in an altercation with a stranger, whose identity they did not know, and that the difference culminated in a fight, during which the stranger stabbed Schink with a large pocket knife.

Schink and three companions left Manchester early last evening to go to Pine Island park, four miles from here, to spend the "night before." His companions were Malcolm Gilmartin, 18, of 59 Wilkins street; Albert LeMay, 20, of 36 North Main street; and Louis Somers, 17, of 502 Second street, all of Manchester.

The boys secured a canoe in the early evening, and paddled about the lake. The canoe overturned as they coaxed about, and all three were tossed into the lake. They could swim and managed to stroke to the shore. They spent the evening and night until 2 o'clock next morning in moving with the crowds about the park. It was at this time that the stabbing occurred.

Emil Mehand, Eli Chaput and Donaries Lavelle, all of Manchester, head cries for "help" emanating from a place where Schink lay dying on the ground, surrounded by his three companions.

Schink was bleeding profusely from a jagged gash in the throat, and died on the way to the hospital in Manchester.

PARADE IN CHARLESTOWN

25,000 CELEBRATE—GIFT PRESENTATIONS AND SPEECH BY MAYOR CURLEY

BOSTON, July 5.—Charlestown's delayed celebration of June 17 was carried out yesterday with a parade in the afternoon and a band concert in Hayes square in the evening.

While the parade was not very long, it was good, and the marching of the soldiers and sailors evoked great praise from the 25,000 persons who stood in the rain and watched them pass.

One of the divisions that attracted great attention was composed of Albanian citizens. The St. Mary's Cardinal Cadets came in for their share of applause from the spectators.

Just before the parade started there was a celebration on the Bunker Hill Monument grounds. Mayor Curley, who delivered the patriotic speech, was presented with a gold-headed cane by the Rev. John W. McMahon, the pastor of St. Mary's church, who offered the prayer. Mass. James M. Curley, Jr., who delivered the "Battle of Bunker Hill" was presented with a pair of gold cuff buttons, by Philip Tague, a nephew of Congressman Tague.

Mayor Curley was presented with a cameo breast pin. Miss Marian McDonald, daughter of Congressman Daniel McDonald, was presented with a gold neck chain and pendant by Mayor Curley, and Congressman Tague's son was presented with a pair of gold cuff buttons. The cuff buttons had the replica of Bunker Hill monument on them. On the handle of the cane presented to the mayor were his initials "J. C."

The parade was 15 minutes late in starting, due to the mayor being in attendance at the monument celebration. It would have been much later if it had not been for John F. Dever, chairman of the celebration committee, notifying the mayor that the parade was awaiting his arrival, and it would not start until he had taken his place in line.

Jumping into a carriage with Congressman Tague and Congressman McDonald, the mayor hurried to the starting point, and Chief Marshall Andrew T. Wilson gave the order to march.

The procession started from the junction of Green and Bunker Hill streets, then passed up Bunker Hill street to Main street, Sullivan square to Gardner street, Seaver street to Cambridge street, to Main street, to Union street, Washington street, to Harvard street, City square to Chelsea street, to Bunker Hill street, to Tufts street, to Princeton street, to Marion street, to Bunker Hill street, to Elm street, to High street, Monument square, north, east and south sides, Winthrop street to Warren street.

The parade was made up of a battalion from the Coast Artillery Corps in command of Major T. D. Ashburn, Capt. R. H. P. Kelton, Capt. J. P. Spurr and Captain F. H. Lamax. Then came sailors and marines from the flagship Minnesota, Texas, Virginia, New Jersey and Kearsarge. Lieut. C. B. Mayo of the Virginia was battalion commander.

Following the sailors and marines came the Fifth company, Coast Artillery, in command of Captain Fred R. Robinson. Next came the Seventh company of Coast Artillery, Captain Arthur W. Burton. Then came the St.

My Cardinal Cadets, following the naval brigade. Other organizations that participated in the parade were the A. O. H., Ninth Regiment Veterans' association, First Regiment Veterans' association and Spanish War Veterans.

THE FEDERAL OATH

DR. LIVINGSTON MAY MAKE A TEST CASE IF COMPELLED HE ATTEMPTED

Dr. Clarence B. Livingston of this city, a member of the Federal Oath of Non-Resistance, who refused to take the federal oath at Camp Whitney, because he could not see his way clear to do so, in justice to his family, has retained former Adj.-Gen. Garfield W. Pearson as counsel. In a test of the legality of the federal demands should the war department attempt a compulsory administration of the federal oath, Gen. Pearson states that in his mind it is a question whether the U. S. government has the right to force any man to take an oath against his will. The government, he says, has the right under the Dick bill, to order Dr. Livingston, or any member of the militia, to the border, but not beyond. But in the event of men who did not subscribe to the oath being ordered to the border, what then? They are members of the state guard. Their fellows who took the oath, are federal troops, and have no authority over the state guard. There are many complications which would have to be ironed out."

KILLED AT FLYING HORSES
FORT FAIRFIELD, Me., July 5.—The seven-year-old son of Walter Hooper, a laborer, was caught in the belt of a merry-go-round yesterday and was so badly injured that he died within a half hour.

Miss Greta Horix, an American girl, has been decorated by the Kaiser for heroic work as an army nurse.

"A Man of Sorrow" is a powerful moral play, dealing with a man who rescued from a drunkard's death by a young girl falls in love with the girl's father. This girl's father, a failure from drink, deserts his motherless baby and some time afterwards marries again and has a daughter by his second marriage. The deserted child is the girl who later in life becomes a great success. The play is brought into the plot and while posing about the village as the wife makes love to her own gypsy sweetheart, how the young husband driven back again to drink by the apparent perfidy of his wife, and how later he saves the half-sister from a watery grave and her confession forms a story the leading role of which only such a powerful dramatic star as William Farnum could portray.

Other excellent attractions, including a side-splitting comedy and features from the Universal program will also be presented.

CANOME LAKE

The first vaudeville show of the season at Canome Lake Park opened most auspiciously, there being a fine crowd on hand at both shows Monday to fully appreciate the merits of the big bill, arranged by Manager Sayer of the theatre.

Fans of the theatre can well rest assured that the vaudeville show will be up to the mark variety all season long as Manager Sayer is in touch with all the big acts and therefore in a position to get "the big ones."

There are six acts on the bill for tonight and the balance of the week, the variety including everything that goes to make up an attractive show of this kind.

Brannon's Midget Horses are one of the finest equine acts ever seen in this part of the country. The horses are well trained and show an extra well balanced program. There are high school horse, ball room and divers other stunts that appeal to all and especially the children for who is the child that does not appreciate a well presented animal act.

Rowe Bros. astound all with their clever work on the different sized bicycles they possess, they deviating from a foot high to the old fashioned high wheel cycle. Their act is full of comedy with a thrill here and there.

The "Peerless Trio" is going great with their comedy song and talk together with a fine musical program, as is also Dana Cooper in the great dramatic sketch, "The Confession." The "Hiccup Cut-up" offered by McLaughlin and Stewart wind up the bill and their act is one long laugh from start to finish.

The matinee at the latest start at 3.15 while the evening show starts at 8.15.

TROOPS WANT TO FIGHT AMERICAN SHIPS SUNK

REGULARS AND MILITIAMEN ARE ALL SORE AT PEACE TALK—ANXIOUS TO BATTLE

EL PASO, Tex., July 5.—When militiamen and regulars alike "roaring to go," according to the latest slang expression in border military circles, the Fourth of July was spent in camp along the Rio Grande with many a muttered curse at the Washington despatches reporting the latest Carranza note as pacific in tone. Coming to the border with the expectation of crossing immediately for active service, the militiamen began to grumble at a future of guarding sand dunes and chaparral. The regulars settled down to the continuation of a similar occupation, which has occupied most of them for the past five years.

Of course there was the contingency that the state might not be condignatory enough, and the further contingency that something now unforeseen might arise to make service in Mexico possible, but this was not sufficient to give the militiamen and the regulars much joy for Fourth of July enthusiasm.

There is no secret that all the troops want to fight. War it what they want—not guard duty—and any thing that sounds pacific is received with scorn, anything that sounds like war with enthusiasm.

The militiamen spent most of the day putting their camps in shape and the regulars spent a good deal of time visiting the militia camps or fraternizing with the volunteers at the downtown places where things are sold that make the heat seem more endurable, and telling stories of their own border duty during the past many months.

All was peace and quiet along the concentrated Pershing line of communication south of Columbus, according to despatches during the day. Duties were suspended there, as along the border, so that the men might rest, contemplate and reflect. Even the rush work on road building from Columbus to the Pershing base was suspended for the day.

There was no letup in the activity of the quartermaster's department, however, and supplies were shipped out as it were not a holiday, for militiamen continued to arrive, and militiamen, like other people, must eat. Motor trucks were also shipped out to the various concentration points at General Hodge Hill, where the American border patrol commander at El Paso, took a number of shots from the underbrush across the river at American guards. The American regulars didn't return the fire, to the surprise and chagrin of the volunteers.

Snipers also fired on a train out of El Paso, bearing the Connecticut militia, one of the shots wounding the engineer, who dropped to the floor of his cab, while the special troop train was moving at the rate of 40 miles an hour. The fireman stopped the engine, and a big Connecticut quartermaster's sergeant, took the throttle and pulled the train into division headquarters at Lordsburg, N. M. The man exhibited a card in the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, and said he gave the $2000 a month for "come down here and make them Graciers salute the Stars and Stripes."

HIGH MEAT PRICES

PRODUCTION FAILS TO KEEP PACE WITH INCREASE IN THE POPULATION

WASHINGTON, July 5.—High meat prices probably will continue indefinitely, according to the conclusion reached by the department of agriculture, as set forth in an exhaustive report on the situation made public today.

High meat prices prevail throughout the world. One reason for this is the fact that production has failed to keep pace with the increase in population. Contributory causes given are the increased cost of production and diminished purchasing power of the money unit.

MASSACHUSETTS HAS 785,580 BETWEEN 18 AND 45 INCLUSIVE—OTHER STATES

Special to The Sun
WASHINGTON, D. C., July 5.—The bureau of the census states that there are in the state of Massachusetts 785,580 able-bodied men of military age; that is, between the ages of 18 and 45 inclusive. The estimate is based on the normal increase since the census of 1910. This places Massachusetts as sixth in the list of the high-man states. The states exceeding that number are New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Ohio and Texas in the order named, Massachusetts coming a close second to Texas, whose estimate is given as 828,462. New York is high state with figures at 2,223,633. Nevada has the smallest number of military possibilities with 30,499, with Delaware not far in advance showing only 46,123, according to census estimates.

VICTORY FOR BRANDEIS

AMERICAN JEWISH CONGRESS MOVEMENT INDORSED BY ZIONIST CONFERENCE

PHILADELPHIA, July 5.—The American Jewish congress movement received the unqualified indorsement of a large majority of the delegates to the 15th annual convention of the Federation of American Zionists at their session in Horticultural hall. This is considered a sweeping victory for Justice Brandeis and his supporters, who have all along urged that the Federation become affiliated with the plans for the holding of an American Jewish congress in New York city before the end of the year.

A Volume of Truth

—in fact, many volumes would be required to tell of the purity, deliciousness and satisfaction that goes with every ration of the famous whole wheat and barley food, Grape-Nuts.

Whole wheat is sweet but when malted barley is added then comes a nut-like flavor more tasty and satisfying than is possible in any food made of wheat alone. But the barley does more than heighten the flavor—it gives this food its great digestive qualities.

It is a fact that Grape-Nuts supplies, as does no other food in such splendid proportion, all the nutriment of the grains, including the vital mineral elements often lacking in the daily diet, but which are imperative for mental and physical vigor.

Grape-Nuts is especially processed for easy digestion and yields a wonderful return of sturdy brain, nerve and muscle energy.

Grape-Nuts is always ready to eat—just tilt the packet and add cream or good milk—a delicious dish, richly nourishing and highly satisfying.

WATERWAYS COMMITTEE

CITY COUNCIL REQUESTED TO SEIZE LAND ON EITHER SIDE OF PAWTUCKET BRIDGE

The municipal council is in receipt of the following petition from the committee on waterways and the matter will be taken under consideration at the next meeting of the council:

Lowell, Mass., July 5th, 1916.

To the Municipal Council:

The undersigned respectfully petition your honorable body that the city of Lowell acquire by eminent domain, the land and buildings along the northern bank of the Merrimack river for a distance of four hundred feet on each side of Pawtucket bridge.

The removal of all the buildings now standing along the river bank on Riverside street and Varnum avenue and the acquisition of the land to be seized for a public park will not only beautify that section in affording an unobstructed view of the Merrimack river from Moody street bridge along Colonial avenue, Riverside street and Varnum avenue to Pawtucket falls, but this improvement, we believe, will greatly enhance the valuation of property in that locality.

The local assessment of land and buildings herein suggested for seizure is $15,000.00 and we are firmly of the opinion that the city is in a position to pay for the same at once. This property changes hands or costly new buildings are erected in the place of the present unattractive structures.

seminary or college, containing one or more rooms, where a regular course of instruction is afforded to more than ten pupils at one time.

Section 2 provides that the requirements of the bill shall be put into effect before the first day of September, 1917, but modifies that provision by giving the chief of the district police the right in cities outside of Boston to grant an extension of time within which the changes in school buildings shall be made, if there is sufficient reason for the delay.

Section 3 provides for the fireproofing of basements if heating apparatus is there installed, by requiring that the ceiling, if constructed of combustible material, shall be protected with metal lath and cement plaster at least three-quarters of an inch thick; that all spaces under walls and partitions and over girders, around heat and vent pipes, and around stairways, shall be thoroughly fire-stopped with brick in mortar, or its equivalent; and self-closing fire doors shall be installed at the top of each stairway, leading from the basement to the floor above.

As ninety-five per cent of school-house fires originate in the basement, section 4 of the bill is of great importance.

In schoolhouses that exceed one story in height the basement shall be cut off from the floor above in the following manner: The ceilings, underside of stairways and landings, if constructed of combustible material, shall be covered with metal lath and cement plaster, at least three-quarters of an inch in thickness, or its equivalent; all spaces under walls and partitions and over girders, around heat and vent pipes and around stairways, shall be thoroughly fire-stopped with brick in mortar, or its equivalent; and self-closing fire doors shall be installed at the top or bottom of each stairway leading from the basement to the floor above.

Automatic Sprinklers

Section 5 provides that: "In schoolhouses exceeding one story in height, if not of fireproof construction and used exclusively for school purposes, where there are stairs or stairways connecting the first floor with the basement, the entire basement and all rooms above the basement used for manual training, laboratories or other hazardous purposes, shall be equipped with automatic sprinklers provided with adequate water supply, and installed in accordance with the standard regulations adopted by the district police. Such sprinklers shall be adequately protected against freezing and shall be kept in commission and under pressure whenever the building is occupied for school purposes."

Section 6 prohibits partitions of wooden sheathing in basements unless they are protected, and requires isolation of heating apparatus. Section 7 provides that in all schoolhouses, corridors leading to two or more exits shall be divided by a double door equipped with self-closing double swinging doors. Section 8 prevents attic rooms being used for class rooms unless they open on corridors that have two free and widely separated exits leading to the outside. Section 9 provides that a fire alarm may be imposed upon any official who refuses or unreasonably neglects to carry out the provisions of the act.

The Council Meeting

In the absence of Mayor O'Donnell, who was in Boston at a hearing having to do with the Pawtucket bridge, Commissioner Duncan presided. The business of the meeting included the adoption of orders calling for pole locations and wire attachments.

The petition of the Lowell Electric Light company for two pole locations in Gibson street was opposed by Benjamin Silverblatt and A. R. Mills, who said that unsightly poles would mar the beauty of Gibson street. Mr. Silverblatt urged the council to visit the premises before granting the permit. The matter was referred to Commissioner Duncan.

The petition of Matilda W. Brien for a garage in Westford street was referred to Commissioner Putnam and Fire Chief Saunders. The New England Telephone & Telegraph company was petitioned for a permit to keep and store gasoline in Appleton street and that, too, was referred to Messrs. Putnam and Saunders, as were several other petitions of a similar nature.

The chairman read a communication from Jackson Palmer, counsel for James Slavin. It was a notice of injunction sustained by Mr. Slavin for which it was alleged, a bad street was responsible. The matter was referred to the law department.

A transfer for $376.58 for Thomas Varnum was voted. The chairman explained that the amount named related to a pole owned by Mr. Varnum and taken by the city for hospital purposes was not sufficient.

The New England Telephone & Telegraph company was given leave to withdraw on its petition for two pole locations in Lyman street and the same action was taken on the petition of the Lowell Electric Light corporation for a pole location in Huntington street.

Orders granting the New England Telephone & Telegraph company pole locations in Beaver, Canoe, Brookside and one other street were adopted, as were also orders granting the Lowell Electric Light corporation pole locations in Relief, Upham and South Walker streets.

The seventeenth annual report of the wire inspector was received and placed on file.

The sand contract between Patrick Coughlin and the city was approved as was also the contract between the city and the J. L. Douglas company for the re-roofing of the carpenter shop and the carpenter shop sheds.

BOY SCOUTS' CAMP

THEY WILL LEAVE FOR DUNSTABLE TOMORROW—CAMP ON LAKE MASSAPOG

About 20 Boy Scouts will leave tomorrow if the weather is favorable for Dunstable, where they will camp during the next five or six weeks. The little fellows will be in the care of Field Executive James Kibard and other officials of the organization, and it is safe to predict that they will have the time of their lives.

According to arrangements the Boy Scouts were to leave this morning, but on account of the unfavorable weather the starting time was postponed until tomorrow. Those who will leave tomorrow will not remain at camp all the time, for it is expected they will remain in camp, to be replaced by others for the camp will accommodate but 20 or 30 boys, and the names of those who wish to take in the camp are coming in fast.

The camp will be located at Massapoag pond in Dunstable and will consist of kitchen and sleeping tents. The boys will take along with them all their paraphernalia. They will go by train as far as East Groton and will walk the remainder of the distance, about one mile. Upon reaching the camping grounds they will pitch their tents and drive a well. During their stay in camp they will be given an opportunity for swimming, boating and fishing as well as to do scout work, but always under the supervision of a man. The food will be the best ever and will be prepared and cooked on the premises.

munication so plainly indicates a similar desire that a further interchange of views is expected to begin immediately looking to joint efforts to curb border bandits and other irresponsible agencies that have worked to embroil the two governments.

Officials Impressed by Tone

High officials were much impressed by the complete change in tone shown in Gen. Carranza's new note. It was described by one as more than conciliatory. There seemed to be no disposition to doubt that the United States on its side would be willing to arrange for the early withdrawal of the expeditionary force from Mexico.

150,000 Troops at Border

With more than 150,000 regulars and national guardsmen soon to be available for border patrol work the necessity for keeping Gen. Pershing's columns at any great distance beyond the line has lessened, according to many officials. Ample forces are at hand to control the situation, even if the Mexican troops now assembled in northern Mexico are unable immediately to guarantee protection from raiders.

In any event, it was pointed out, it will be impossible for any considerable force sought previously to arrange for an attack across the line on the raid at Columbus, N. M., if Carranza carries out the promises made in his note to "employ all efforts" that may be at his disposal to avoid the recurrence of new incidents which may complicate and aggravate the situation.

Note Speaks For Itself

Eliseo Arredondo, Mexican ambassador designate, had this comment to make:

"The note speaks for itself. It is thought previously to have set forth exactly the situation with the United States as viewed by the Mexican government."

Copies of the note were sent by Mr. Arredondo to all embassies and legations in Washington, particularly to the Latin-American diplomats who by long previous arrangement were to mediate the dispute. Heretofore Secretary Lansing has made it plain that the United States government desired no offer of mediation until Gen. Carranza's attitude and intentions were plainly stated, and the indications are that in the event of such an offer, Carranza's position will be that better results can be accomplished by direct negotiations.

The Mexican note does not make the specific explanation of orders given to Gen. Trevino sought by Secretary Lansing's last communication. Gen. Carranza has been instructed that in order to attack Gen. Pershing's men if they moved east, south or west in Mexico, was construed as an act of deliberate hostility. The declaration that the Carranza government will seek every means to avoid new incidents to aggravate the situation is regarded as a virtual withdrawal of the order.

CONCILIATORY ANSWER

FROM GEN. CARRANZA

WASHINGTON, July 5.—The reply of the de facto government of Mexico to the demands of the United States, conciliatory in terms and giving assurances of a desire to reach a friendly adjustment of the difficulties between the two countries was delivered to the state department today by a Mexican embassy attaché. As soon as a translation of the Spanish text could be made it was sent to the White House. Until Secretary Lansing and President Wilson have had an opportunity to confer there will be no formal comment. But some state department officials did not attempt to conceal the fact that they considered the note most satisfactory and likely to remove all danger of war.

Brief and free from all superfluous language of diplomacy, the communication points to the release of the American troops captured at Carrizal as proof of the Mexican government's sincere desire to avoid a conflict. It states that the outstanding issues the reasonable belief of the United States that the insecurity of its frontier is a source of difficulty, and on the other hand the belief of the Mexican government that the presence of American troops in Mexico is a trespass on that country's sovereignty and the immediate cause of trouble.

In offering to consider in a "quick and practical way" the remedies should be applied, the note gives notice that Mexico has accepted in principle Latin-American offers of mediation and awaits information that the United States is disposed to accept mediation or still is of the belief that the same results may be attained by direct negotiations.

Assurances are given that the de facto government meanwhile will employ every effort to avoid a recurrence of incidents which would complicate and aggravate the situation, and the hope is expressed that the United States will endeavor to have its military and civil authorities do likewise.

This is the reply of Carranza to the demand of the United States for a statement of his intentions. A specific response to the question of whether he stands upon the instructions of Gen. Trevino to attack American troops moving other than northward, is evaded and there is no mention of the reprimand administered by Secretary Lansing in his note of June 20 on account of the offensive insinuations and language contained in Carranza's previous communication demanding recall of the American troops.

Although the note is signed by Gen. Aguilar, foreign minister, officials of the Mexican embassy believe it was dictated by Gen. Carranza himself.

FOOD FOR TROOPS

Last week the public learned through widespread press comment that food sent to the troops in camp at Framingham was of a very poor quality. Some of it was condemned by the inspection committee and there was talk of a food strike among the complaining young soldiers. It transpired that the government or the state were not directly to blame, the responsibility resting on those who got the requisition for supplies. It is hardly necessary to comment on the rank meanness and dishonesty of men who would use the extremity of the country as a means of passing off inferior commodities on the troops. If deliberately done, it is morally a great crime, because it commercializes the nation and the flag in the basest imaginable way. If the Mexican expedition did nothing more than to show up what might happen on a more serious occasion, it fulfilled a good purpose, and the authorities should lose no time in getting down to the root of the recent trouble.

It was customary for the press of this country to score foreign forms and individuals who were accused of such transactions at the beginning of the great war. Let us now vent our indignation nearer home and arouse such a spirit that no man nor firm would dare to descend to dishonesty in dealing with the wants of the country and the bodily wants of its troops. Human nature, unfortunately, is much the same the world over, and though we would like to believe otherwise, experience teaches that America would have to deal with all the vices that other nations have dealt with ere now.

Aside from the moral aspect of the question, most of the young men who went to Framingham camp and later to the Mexican border have come from good homes and they have been used to good food and the best family care. It is a poor policy for the state or the nation to treat them in any other spirit and if put to the supreme test they would prove far better fighters if properly fed and cared for than if they had been imposed on by the designs of base food contractors. Recalling the Cuban rotten beef, let us guard against any repetition of the scandal at this time.

RAILROAD SITUATION

The railroads of the country that are threatened with a widespread strike have come out with a request for public investigation and arbitration and though the employees seeking concessions have not yet answered in a like spirit, there is a growing demand among the public for such a solution of the railroad situation. A committee of the railroads have suggested that the matter be referred to the Interstate Commerce Commission—which cannot be accused of favoring the officials—or else a new commission established on fair and disinterested lines. Should a new commission be formed, it is requested that the railroads, the employees, the federal government and the public be represented. Since the rights of all are involved—and more especially the rights of the public—the request seems entirely just and reasonable.

As one means to arouse the employees to the fairness of the railroad point of view in the present instance, the Pennsylvania railroad has got out a poster which is entitled "An Appeal by This Railroad System to Its 235,000 Men." This poster will be placed on the bulletin boards in waiting rooms, ticket offices, etc., and will be given the widest possible publicity. It states that 18 per cent of the employees are being polled for a strike and after stating that the road is in favor of arbitration it says: "The management reiterates its position favoring the settlement of all questions in dispute by arbitration. Such a course will preserve to each one of you unbroken earning power; to the public, uninterrupted service; and to the railroad, continuance of the earnings by which alone it can perform its public duties."

This is a question of the greatest importance to the country—not only to the manufacturer and exporter but to all workers and the public generally. A fair settlement is desirable, and no fairer way of arriving at this is in evidence than the way proposed by the Pennsylvania, viz.: arbitration by a board or commission that would have no object other than that of arriving at an open and honest decision for the good of all concerned.

FROM SCHOOL TO JOB

The head master in one of Boston's best known schools comes out with the suggestion that the curriculum be adjusted and the system of providing positions revolutionized in order that the pupil and the job may be brought together in a more scientific and more satisfactory way. He speaks of the "dumping" of thousands of high school graduates on the business of their respective communities in June when there is little demand for labor. Hundreds have to wait many months before they get suitable positions and some lose their efficiency in the waiting. Owing to what he calls "the lockstep method of graduating pupils," graduates of low ability, average ability and unusual ability graduate together and in the scramble for places there is much a waste.

SAFETY AND SANE

There was no more zealous advocate of the safe and sane Fourth for this year than the clerk of the weather and figuratively and literally he put a damper on the enthusiasm of the ardent. For the greater part of the time it was as much as one could do to sit patiently indoors and listen to the spasmodic explosions in the distance, but the recompense came in the quietest and sanest holiday in the memory of all reminiscent citizens. In one sense it was too bad that the weather thwarted the plans of the midway promoters on the common, whose showing was on a higher scale than formerly, but they had a taste of what might have been in the brisk business of the night preceding. Vanity Fair was on in all its modern features. The hobby horses galloped as never before; the great wheels with their electric illumination revolved overhead; the Hindoo laconically told fortunes; the fakirs and vendors sold their wares with every variety of lurid expostulation and the happy conglomeration of multitude made up from all ages and nations surged hither and thither noisily, excited and happy. Lucky they who had a foretaste of joy that did not materialize, for with the damp and cold of the day itself, there was nothing to do but to sit quietly at home and think of past holidays when the sun was propitious.

GOOD—BUT COSTLY

The zeal of congress for preparedness is merely a reflection of the popular demand, but, nevertheless, it has been responsible for the highest expenditures in the history of the country. It has not been sufficient to please some of the extremists, but its scope may be gauged from some of the government bills. The total of the expenditures may not yet be definitely ascertained but it will be considerably in excess of a billion and a half dollars. This will be $500,000,000 in excess of any other record of congressional expense.

The two main appropriation measures before congress are the army and navy bills. These are for $225,000,000 and $315,826,843 respectively and with the fortifications bill would aggregate more than $622,000,000. Yet, few complain that the preparedness plans contemplated are extravagant, and if there is any complaint it is that they are not comprehensive and far reaching enough. A little reflection will convince anybody that to talk about preparedness and to pay for preparedness are two entirely different propositions. Preparedness is excellent, but it comes high. Yet we must have it and there is no complaint so long as the load does not weigh too heavily on the individual.

AND 'T WAS LOADED

Just the same old story all over again! A boy and girl go out walking and in a spirit of bravado he shows her a nice shiny revolver. After firing off all the shots, as he supposed, he gives the revolver to her as a plaything. She clicks the trigger a few times and then inadvertently shoots and kills a little brother standing nearby with the one remaining bullet. In one form or another we have heard variations of the incident a score of times, but still boys purchase guns as easily as they might purchase a bag of peanuts and the tragedy happens when they or others forget that the guns are loaded. Under any circumstance, guns are things to be handled gingerly and to be avoided. If in the home they should be kept under lock and key, and under no circumstances should they be sold to the immature. Spite of our pity for the victims of those accidents and our sympathy for those who unconsciously do harm, some day we may have to proceed against them for criminal negligence in order that the public may be taught to observe the simplest rules of safety and self preservation.

ANOTHER "DESERTER"

It is amusing the way that republicans call any erstwhile follower of Theodore Roosevelt who may now be for President Wilson against Candidate Hughes a "deserter." How can that be? There is no progressive party, officially or otherwise, so naturally a man cannot desert what is not in existence. Why is there no progressive party? Because of the desertion of Theodore Roosevelt it was disbanded. Who, then, is the real deserter? Any boy in the first grade can answer. The sincere man of the former progressive party who is now turning to the democratic party has not deserted, but the founder of the progressive party has deserted him and his principles. There are a great many "deserters" in the eyes of republicans, one of the latest being Francis J. Honey of San Francisco, former district attorney, who not only turns to President Wilson but will work for him throughout the Pacific coast. When the progressive vote is counted it may be seen that Teddy has fallen again.

"I hate to be contradicted," she said. "Then I won't contradict you," he asserted. "You don't love me," she asserted. "I don't," he admitted. "You are a hateful thing!" she cried. "I am," he replied. "I believe you are trying to tease me," she said. "I am," he conceded. "And you do not love me?" "I don't."

His Country First

It is history that when General Putnam heard the call to duty he left the plow in the unfinished furrow and went at once. This unselfish and patriotic sense of duty has had many counterparts since, as an incident that took place recently in this city proves.

Praise For the Needy

An itinerant preacher stopped for refreshment at an Arkansas house, and among other things, he was served with apple pie. The crust was heavy and sour, and the apples were hard, but the good man praised it earnestly. The woman of the house knew that she had had bad luck with the baking, and so she really was astonished when he determined that the next time that preacher came near her way he would have a pie that was faultless. He told her when he was to return and on that day she set before him an apple pie that was perfectly delicious. He ate it, but to her astonishment, he purchased not a word of commendation. That was more than she could stand. "When you were here before," she said, "you ate an apple pie that wasn't more than half baked, and yet you praised it to the skies. Now you meet me with a pie that no one need be ashamed of, but you haven't a word to say in its favor. I can't understand it."

Plastering and shingles were blown off, and pictures knocked from their fastenings on the walls. James Savage was lying on a couch in the house when the lightning set fire to the lower part of it, but he escaped injury.

A large barn belonging to J. A. Healey at Grandview, was struck by lightning late Monday afternoon and the building was practically destroyed before the blaze was extinguished. Owing to a change in the wind several buildings in the vicinity escaped destruction. This is the third time that this barn has been struck by lightning.

SEC. DANIELS AT LEWISTON SAYS AMERICA IS BROADENING ITS VIEWPOINT

LEWISTON, Me., July 5.—The American youth of the future must be taught a patriotism without chauvinism, a love of country without exclusiveness or jingoism, a reverence for the flag without a trace of brag or bluster, declared Secretary Daniels of the Navy department, speaking here yesterday at a Fourth of July celebration.

"The day has passed," said Secretary Daniels, "when the spread-eagle or hoisted in scorpion tines that Uncle Sam could whip anything in creation, but the day must never come when the American youth will not glory in the victories of Putnam and Aaron and Washington, or when they are not thrilled with the achievements of John Paul Jones, Perry and Macdonough are related."

America, said the speaker, is broadening its viewpoint and getting away from a parochial patriotism. "Our parents and teachers," said he, "must point out that all wisdom will not die with us, and that the virtues of our fathers are found in every nation under every sky. Steam, electricity, and wireless have made this a very small world indeed, and travel has ended the provincialism that sees only the good in one's own country."

The pressing need of preparedness is not causing Congress and the administration to lose sight of other pressing questions, the speaker said. "A Fourth of July that does not see a government alert to give chief concern for the welfare of the American citizen of today and tomorrow," said he, "would not be in keeping with the ideals set up when we established this republic on new and better foundations."

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 5.—If the reported occupation of Ruanda, Congo, by Belgian troops from the Congo, and their establishment of a provisional government in this territory prove to be authentic, one of the richest colonial prizes of this world war has been won by the nation which has suffered most in Europe. Concerning this region, its people and its colonization possibilities, the following bulletin has been issued by the National Geographic society from its Washington headquarters:

"If Belgium is able to retain her hold on the Ruanda region of the German East African protectorate she will possess the most densely populated as well as one of the most fertile and salubrious territories of Central Africa. Ruanda lies to the east of Lake Kiwa, through which runs the boundary line between the upper Congo region and the German possessions. The Kagera river, also known as the Alexandra Nile, flowing in irregular S shape, east, north and east, and emptying into Lake Victoria Nyanza, is the eastern boundary.

"While there are two considerable tracts of forest in Ruanda, the central portion of the territory is bare of trees, but on the mountain slopes there is to be found wonderfully rich grass, on which graze magnificent herds of cattle that constitute the chief wealth of the natives. The agricultural possibilities of the region are almost unlimited.

"One of the most striking advantages of this territory is its high altitude, an average of nearly a mile above sea level, so that although it lies under an equatorial sun, the temperature is usually about the same as that of a warm summer day in central Europe. Ruanda is a most fertile and healthy region, nor does it dread electricity, however over the land, bringing sleeping sickness to human beings and quicker death to cattle.

"Two remarkable contrasts are to be found among the natives of this region. The highly developed, intelligent Watussi are magnificent physical specimens, lithe, well proportioned and athletic. It is not uncommon to meet men from 5 feet, 11 inches to 7 feet, 2 inches tall. On the other hand, on the island of Kwidischwe, in Lake Kiwa, and in the bamboo forests of Bugie the traveler finds the pigmy Barwa tribes, whose specimens are scarcely under five feet in height, shy, timid and devoted almost entirely to the chase. The aborigines belong to neither of these tribes, however, but are the Watussi, a medium-sized, agricultural people. The black stunted of the region, one of the world's most powerful potentates ruling in territory held by white colonists, is a Watussi. His word, subject to the censorship of the European resident or governor, is law to a million and a half people.

"There is abundant water in Ruanda, the small mountain streams never running dry. When the grass becomes parched on the hillside the natives burn it off and immediately there springs up fresh, tender pasturage for the cattle.

"The perfunctory salutation among friends is one of the interesting customs of the country. Upon meeting they either place their arms lightly about the waist or else grasp each other's elbows, holding them for a while, then one declares 'I wish you cattle,' while the other replies, 'I wish you women.'

"This region was first explored in 1854 by Count von Goetzen, formerly governor of German East Africa, who came from the coast as far as Lake Kiwa, about which Arab traders had frequently brought vague reports. This beautiful, island-dotted body of water, 5000 feet above sea level, was the last considerable lake to be discovered in Central Africa. Its outlet is the Rusizi river, which flows south into the famous Lake Tanganyika.

"One of the most notable features of exploration which has visited Ruanda was that headed by Adolphus Frederick, Duke of Mecklenburg, who marched through the territory with an impressive retinue of carriers in 1907. In his report he said of this region: 'Ruanda is eminently adapted for colonization by white men. The country possesses a fabulous amount of wealth in its hands, to the breeding of which its pastoral people are particularly devoted. Also agriculture may be carried on in a remunerative way, for the quality of the cattle itself is as excellent as that of the milk. The soil, simply leaves nothing to be desired, so that it is evident that there is a splendid opening here for the establishment of business on a vast scale.'

SEC. DANIELS AT LEWISTON SAYS AMERICA IS BROADENING ITS VIEWPOINT

LEWISTON, Me., July 5.—The American youth of the future must be taught a patriotism without chauvinism, a love of country without exclusiveness or jingoism, a reverence for the flag without a trace of brag or bluster, declared Secretary Daniels of the Navy department, speaking here yesterday at a Fourth of July celebration.

"The day has passed," said Secretary Daniels, "when the spread-eagle or hoisted in scorpion tines that Uncle Sam could whip anything in creation, but the day must never come when the American youth will not glory in the victories of Putnam and Aaron and Washington, or when they are not thrilled with the achievements of John Paul Jones, Perry and Macdonough are related."

America, said the speaker, is broadening its viewpoint and getting away from a parochial patriotism. "Our parents and teachers," said he, "must point out that all wisdom will not die with us, and that the virtues of our fathers are found in every nation under every sky. Steam, electricity, and wireless have made this a very small world indeed, and travel has ended the provincialism that sees only the good in one's own country."

The pressing need of preparedness is not causing Congress and the administration to lose sight of other pressing questions, the speaker said. "A Fourth of July that does not see a government alert to give chief concern for the welfare of the American citizen of today and tomorrow," said he, "would not be in keeping with the ideals set up when we established this republic on new and better foundations."

WASHINGTON, July 5.—The prominence which the Mexican state of Tamalipas is occupying in the border news of the day makes the following bulletin, issued by the National Geographic society from its Washington headquarters, of timely interest:

"Owing to the border outrages committed by bandits who have invaded Texas at points opposite the Mexican state of Tamalipas, public interest is focused on this political division of the southern republic which has immensely rich resources, both mineral and agricultural, but which has not been developed by American and European capital as have other sections of the country.

"Tamalipas is about the size of Maine, but with only about one-third the population of the New England commonwealth. Its Gulf coastline, low, sandy, but not moist, extends north and south for 250 miles from the mouth of the Rio Grande to the mouth of the Panuco river, where is situated the important seaport of Tampico with its fabulously rich oil fields. This coast is indented with many shallow lagoons formed by the islands and sandbars at the mouths of the Rio Grande, Conchos and Tames rivers. In winter it is swept by violent 'norther' which are exceedingly dangerous to navigation and which cause great discomfort to the natives.

"That portion of the state bordering on Texas is flat and is very dry for much of the year, but when irrigated is extremely fertile, producing bountiful grain crops as well as sustaining numerous herds of cattle. The southern and central sections produce sugar cane, bananas, coffee and tobacco in the well-watered valleys. In the mountainous regions, back from the coast, the state possesses immense potential wealth in its undeveloped gold, silver, copper, marble, asphalt and salt mines. Even in the Tampico district the great underground reservoirs of petroleum have been tapped only within recent years.

"The mountains of Tamalipas, which have a salubrious climate, then with game, and sportsmen of Mexico City make annual excursions to this region to hunt deer and the vast flocks of wild-fowl which nest in the neighborhood of the numerous lakes that dot the state.

"Tamalipas owes its commercial importance largely to its little fibre industry and to the great volume of trade passing through Tampico, which ranks next to Vera Cruz among Mexican gulf ports. Its total commerce for 1913 was more than $63,000,000, while Vera Cruz trade was $83,000,000. From Tampico to New Orleans by steamer is 765 miles, about the same distance as from Philadelphia to Savannah. From Tampico to Galveston is 450 miles. The capital of the state, Ciudad Victoria, has a population of about 10,000 and is situated in the mining district, 850 miles north of Mexico City and 150 miles northwest of Tampico."

FOR PEACE IN EUROPE

A RENEWED SOCIALIST ACTIVITY IS PREDICTED BY JULES DESTREE

ROME, July 5.—A renewed socialist activity for peace is predicted by Jules Destree, socialist member of the Belgian parliament from Charleroi. Mr. Destree has been in Italy for a number of months, lecturing and writing on socialist questions, but particularly with the view of the understanding of maintaining the relations among the socialists that existed before the war, to prevent the dismemberment of national political organizations.

"There are at present three distinct movements among the socialists of Europe," said Dr. Destree, to the Associated Press, "and these lines are rapidly being drawn tighter. In Italy, in France, and in Germany has existed for some time those socialists who have supported the war and those socialists who have held aloof from it, though passively. The new alignment of the three movements consists, first, of the nationalists who are taking an active part in supporting the war; secondly, those who are in sympathy with the work of the International Socialist Bureau, now located at The Hague, the officers of which are seeking to bring about peace discussions; and thirdly, those socialists who are completely neutral, as in Switzerland, and who therefore may be termed 'Zimmerwalders.' These latter want peace at any price.

"The two latter groups are sending invitations and arranging meetings for the summer to examine if there are some terms on which peace is possible, and these meetings will be attended by socialists from all the belligerent countries, and possibly from the United States.

"Personally, I belong to the first group, the nationalists, who refuse to make peace until there is victory by arms for somebody. Peace which is not brought by arms, then it means that armaments will continue, and this would be a misfortune for all. As a socialist I cannot but pray for lasting peace, no matter what the present sacrifices may be.

"International peace may be based on justice and we cannot have justice as long as armaments exist to enforce justice.

"The German socialists might have prevented the war if they had considered questions of justice rather than that of gain. The trouble with them before the war was that they were always fighting about questions of wages of salaries, rather than points of justice, and when the war came with a chance of gain to Germany they voted for it in the reichstag and despite the declaration of the socialist congress of Stuttgart.

Regarding the political chances that may come after the war, Mr. Destree said: "There can be none unless the Germans are defeated. If they are defeated the socialists will certainly work in every country to see that war does not come again."

LINCOLN FOUND GUILTY

SELF-STYLED GERMAN SPY SENTENCED TO THREE YEARS' PENAL SERVITUDE FOR FORGERY

LONDON, July 5.—A sentence of three years' penal servitude was yesterday imposed upon Ignatius Tribich Lincoln, the self-styled German spy who recently confessed to forgery at his preliminary hearing on this charge.

A verdict of guilty was found against Lincoln immediately after the jury received the case. The summing up took less than a half hour. Lincoln was sentenced to three years on each of two charges of forgery, the terms to run concurrently.

In summing up the judge said he was dealing with the prisoner simply as a man convicted of forgery, whose conduct was the more dangerous because he was well educated. No one in court would have heard anything in regard to other aspects of his case, the court said, if the prisoner had not attested to them.

On being arraigned in police court Lincoln, who previously had asserted the British authorities desired to punish him for espionage, contended that the forgery charge could not be proceeded with owing to the terms of a treaty between the United States and Great Britain.

ASK YOUR NEIGHBORS

It used to be the custom—and may be now on remote farms—for the housewife to use her own knowledge, good sense and judgment in dealing with sickness in the family before sending for the doctor, unless in serious emergencies. After that, when there was no immediate danger she would talk with her neighbors, women who had had experience with sickness.

Any woman who suffers from ailments peculiar to her sex will do well to ask her neighbors. She should easily find one who has used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Just ask her about it!

JACK DILLON WINS AGAIN JESSE BURKETT'S RELEASE

KNOCKED OUT JIM FLYNN IN FOURTH ROUND OF BOUT AT BARTLESVILLE, OKLA.

BARTLESVILLE, Okla., July 5.—Jack Dillon maintained his reputation as the giant killer when he knocked out Jim Flynn, the Pueblo fireman, at Dewey yesterday, in the fourth round of their scheduled 16-round battle. The bout came after one minute and 40 seconds of fighting.

Dillon tore into Flynn with smashing rights and lefts to the jaw as soon as they came out of their corners. He fought Flynn twice for a count of eight, and the last time when Flynn went down he did not get up for half a minute.

Flynn staggered to his corner in the arms of his seconds, and it was several seconds before the crowd of 10,000 fans realized that the fight was over. In only one round did Flynn show any of his old-time speed and cunning, and that was in the second round, when he landed several times on Dillon's face and head, but he lacked the punch, and his blows did not harm Dillon.

Ed Cochran, a sporting editor of Kansas City, refereed the match. Flynn was affected by the sun, the battle having been staged in an open air arena. He was not in the best of condition, while Dillon was in perfect trim. Dillon pulled down $5000 as his share of gate receipts, while Flynn received $1000. Dillon will soon leave for Australia, where he meets Davey, heavyweight champion of Australia. It was announced yesterday that Carl Morris, Sapulpa engineer, and Frank Moran will probably be matched for a 15-round battle at Dewey on Labor day.

DIAMOND DAZZLES

Cleveland's experiment of numbering the baseball players as a help to the fans in identifying the men on the field may have a far-reaching effect. With the elaborate system of scoreboards at some of the parks in the last few years, the need of numbers has not been so largely felt. For all that, Cleveland has adopted the simple and natural way, to say nothing of the cheapest method, to give information to the fans which is so essential to their complete enjoyment of the game. Here's hoping that every team will follow the lead!

MASSIE WINS PURITAN CUP

MARBLEHEAD, July 5.—The speedy sloop Prothia, owned by E. Walter Clark of Philadelphia, yesterday won the race for the Puritan cup, one of the most coveted yachting trophies on the Atlantic seaboard, in the annual regatta of the Eastern Yacht club.

In a light, easterly wind, with thick mist and showers, she slipped the line with a margin of more than two minutes over the Britannia, owned by Harold S. Wheeler of this town.

The Squab had a comparatively easy win in the race for the New York 45-footers.

In Class P the Britannia won the most closely contested race of the day. The Squab, owned by R. T. Paine, 24, of Boston, and the Timandra, owned by John B. Fallon of Boston, were the respective winners in the L and B class events.

KILLED BY BLOW ON JAW

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 5.—Bert Coffey, 21 years of age, championly weight of the Olympic club of San Francisco, suffered fatal injury here Monday during the last round of a four round amateur boxing contest with Frankie Dolan of Los Angeles.

Coffey received a blow on the jaw and staggered into a clinch. When the boxers broke, Coffey fell to the floor, striking on his chin. He died a few minutes. Dolan was arrested.

FEW STANDING CHANGES

There were no changes in the American league standing as a result of the Independence day combats.

The New York Giants fell from fourth to sixth place in the Tanager league.

The Cardinals got out of last place and the Reds got into it, and the Cubs and Pirates each moved up a notch.

DE PALMA WINS AUTO DERBY

PORT STANLEY, Minn., July 5.—Harry de Palma yesterday won a 15-mile auto race at Port Stanley. The race was held on the beach. The time was 1 hour 28 minutes 15.2 seconds. De Palma's average speed was 21.05 miles per hour.

At the hour set for the race the drivers announced they would not start until the $2,000 prize had been placed with the association officials or other adequate guarantee provided. Finally $5000 in cash was raised, a check for $2,000 given and an order for speedway bonds to the extent of $10,000 issued as a guarantee for the check.

EASTERN LEAGUE COMMENT

The next home game is Monday with the South Enders at home.

President Roach has suspended Roland "Coke" Barrows for failing to report on July 3, as was agreed upon. On June 23 Barrows was given a 10-day's leave of absence and a few days afterward played with the Green Sox team. Notice of the suspension was given to President John A. Farrell of the National Association of Minor Leagues.

Sam Pouliot, the South Enders' star twirler, did not have a chance to work against Lawrence yesterday. He will probably be given an opportunity later in the season.

The Lawrence club, under its new management, is claiming Alex Pearson. Owner Sullivan claims Jesse Burkett has right to wear the pitcher. They assert that no player is released unless papers are signed by the president of the club and in Pearson's case this was not done.

Jesse Burkett reports to Lawrence daily and intends to do so throughout the season. He has an untried contract and the club will have to pay him his full season's salary.

Lefty Fortune and Paddy Martin of the New London team lead the pitchers in the Eastern league. Each has won eight and lost two. Leroy of Springfield has won seven and lost two. "Zeke" Lohman still leads in the number of games won. "Zeke" has won 11 and lost five games which is good work for a second division team.

Bud Welser, the New London slug-ging outfielder, has passed Hammond in the race for batting honors in the Eastern league. Welser's average is now .371 and Hammond is just five points behind him. Joe Kilhullen is hitting at a .340 clip.

An item published Monday in a Fitchburg paper states that two Eastern league teams are striving hard to get into Fitchburg. One of the teams is Lowell, says the article, and although no purchasers could be found the local owners decided to transfer the team to Fitchburg and take a chance on the gate receipts. Fitchburg fans expect the change to be made next week.

Andrew F. Roach, owner of the Lowell club, denies that any agreement, verbal or written, has been made with the Fitchburg parties. The fans and business men of that city think that Fitchburg would give a ball club much better support than Lowell has done thus far and point that out as an argument to transfer the team. But the Lowell management has not yet decided what action to take and the team will remain here for the present, at least.

The Fitchburg writer says that the action of the Lowell club in double-crossing the Fitchburg men last spring would not have a tendency to make the team the most popular in the circuit and the fans are hoping the other manager will go through with his plans to fight Lowell for the privilege of making the transfer. He says that Fitchburg also wants an experienced manager with several seasoned ball players.

TOASTS U.S. AND WILSON

PARIS, July 5.—Premier Briand was the principal guest at the Fourth of July banquet given last night by the American chamber of commerce. In offering a toast to the United States and President Wilson, the premier said:

Writing, Charter in Blood

"The Sons of the American Revolution, thrilled to the depths of their souls, feel instinctively that the present conflict is the last and most terrible convulsion of the age-long struggle between liberty and tyranny. They know that the allies, forced violently from the peace in the interests of which, notwithstanding the injustice on which it was based, they had imposed silence upon their most sacred aspirations, look forward to the dawning promise of the new era of humanism and the absolute respect of national aspirations and desires. They are writing in their blood the charter that shall free the world.

"To the battered cohorts who in the days of old saved liberty on the hills

JOHN M. PARKER, PROGRESSIVE LEADER, WANTS FIGHT KEPT UP

NEW ORLEANS, July 5.—In a telegram sent to the third district congressional committee of the progressive party in Louisiana, John M. Parker, the progressive vice presidential nominee, urged the progressives to continue the fight against the Democrats and to stand by their convictions "unterrified by desertion and fearless of any opposition."

"We should demand immediate resignation of those incensing parties," he said, "should strictly adhere to our principles and ask support and cooperation of all others working for national good and human welfare. We are not seeking to get into the band wagon. Our principles are either right or wrong, and as long as we firmly believe we are right, let us continue the fight for our honest convictions, unterrified by desertion and fearless of any opposition."

Asked if this telegram indicated he would not support either the republican or democratic nominees for president, but would insist on the progressives keeping a ticket in the field, Mr. Parker said he "presumed it did," and that he would have a definite statement on the subject within a few days.

GERMANS HONOR JULY 4

STEAMERS MOORED AT EAST BOSTON PROFUSELY DECORATED—OTHER CRAFT IN HOLIDAY DRESS

BOSTON, July 5.—Shipping in the harbor yesterday was profusely decorated in honor of Independence day. As usual, the navy yard led the display with a dozen or more warships tastefully dressed out in flags and streamers. The German steamers Kronprinzessin Cecilie, Amerika, Köln, Cincinnati, Wilhelm and Wittekind, moored at East Boston, observed the day by dressing ship and on the Celtic land concerts were held during the day. Among the British liners decorated were the Cambrin, Novian, Prince George and Devonian, while nearly all American vessels had the international code flags strung over the masts. Harbor ferries and tugs displayed large American flags.

The city, following its annual custom, operated the ferries to and from East Boston free of charge. Scores of youngsters took advantage of the opportunity to sail across the harbor.

At noon the cutter Gresham, anchored off Rowe's wharf, fired a salute of 21 guns as did the navy yard batteries and the forts in the lower harbor.

BODY OF GIRL IN AUTO

Mysterious Movements of Auto Attracted Attention of Salem Officer Who Stopped Car

SALFORD, July 5.—The mysterious movements of an automobile which had sped up and down Boston street for half an hour early today attracted the attention of Policeman Dennis Healey, who, stopping the car, found within it the body of Miss Margaret Ward of Peabody and six men, including former State Representative Chas. R. O'Connell of Peabody.

The men were arrested and charged with being accessories to illegal medical practice. They were, in addition to the former representative, his brother, James O'Connell of Lynn; George A. Barwell, a member of the crew of the United States cruiser Kearsarge; Daniel J. Dinien of Salem; William D. Conlin also of Salem; and Thomas J. Sexton of Peabody, who had driven the car.

The arrests were made in front of the home of Police Sergeant C. A. R. Duffee, who upon being awakened, identified the dead woman as his sister-in-law. Duffee later went to Boston in an attempt to locate the house, said to be in the Roxbury district, from which the young woman was said to have been removed. According to the police Miss Ward was said to have died after being placed in the machine.

Later Charles R. O'Connell, Barwell and Sexton were released under bonds of $2000 each. Medical Examiner Frank S. Atwood, after viewing the body, said that he would make no statement until he had had opportunity to consult with District Attorney Louis G. Cox.

Miss Ward, who was 26 years old, had been employed until recently as a clerk in a Peabody store.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 5.—The house committee on public buildings today considered the Lowell postoffice matter. Mr. Rogers again appeared before the committee urging generous recommendation. No formal announcement will be made until the entire bill is complete but it is practically certain that $30,000 will be allowed for additions to the present site and $200,000 for the reconstruction or extension of the present building. Mr. Rogers is working hard to get a larger amount.

AN AUTO CAUGHT FIRE

BLAZE SPREAD TO GARAGE ON ALKEN STREET DOING MUCH DAMAGE

An automobile belonging to Narcisse Clement, milkman, of 119 Ludlam street, and the garage of Euclide Favreau on Alken street, near the corner of Lakeview avenue, were badly damaged by fire shortly before nine o'clock this morning when the automobile caught fire while the tank was being filled with gasoline. But for the prompt response of the fire department and the fact that the building is removed from others the loss would have been much heavier.

The fire started so briskly that little could be done until the firemen arrived. An alarm was sent in from box 65 and when the department arrived the machine was ablaze as was the inside of the garage. After a short but hard battle the flames were extinguished, but not before the entire body of the automobile had been destroyed and the inside of the garage burned.

One of the employees stated to Chief Saunders that he was under the impression the fire was caused by a short circuit while coming in contact with the gasoline, as it was being poured into the tank in the car.

SAYS VILLA IS DEAD

MEXICAN EDITOR DECLARES THAT BANDIT LEADER IS DEAD AND BURIED

WASHINGTON, July 5.—Declaring he has positive information that Villa is dead and buried in the vicinity of Boquilla, state of Chihuahua, Mexico, Dr. A. J. editor of Accion Mundial of Mexico City, wired to Gen. Carranza last night from Washington urging that immediate steps be taken to find the body.

Dr. A. J. arrived here yesterday as a delegate to the "peace conference" of the American Union against Militarism. His telegram said:

My information came from two Villistas. These two men asserted that they were with Villa when he died, suffering horribly from gangrene from a wound in his leg, and that they had helped to bury him.

They declare that Villa's band went into the state of Chihuahua, pursued by the forces of the constitutionalists under Gen. Luis Gutierrez and Col. Herrera. They were overtaken in the Sierra range near Boquilla. Early in the action Villa was shot in the leg and unhorsed. His followers remounted him and made off. He again fell from his horse and was finally put on a fresh horse and held on by a follower. When he could travel no longer they dismounted. His wound grew worse and most of his followers left him. For eight days he suffered great agony.

The two men, aided by a few others, buried him, and crossing the Sierra range, reached Cuarez and crossed over into El Paso.

HOW TO STEAM YOUR FACE

The majority of us could not afford to visit a beauty-parlor to have our face steamed twice a week, and I am going to give a detailed explanation of how this can be done at home. Face steamers may be bought but they are expensive, so I advise you to use a pan with a fairly large surface. A chafin dish will answer the purpose admirably.

Place this over an alcohol flame and fill it sufficiently full of water to make a good volume of steam. One-third full is enough and as it evaporates you can add more water. It is well to remember before the steaming process is begun, that boiling hot water will burn the skin, and so the water must be kept at a temperature slightly below the boiling point. It must be sufficiently hot, however, to throw off enough steam to generate perspiration.

The face must first be cleansed and rubbed well with cold cream. Apply it thickly with the fingertips, rubbing it vigorously with a rotary movement over the entire surface. Make the upward stroke stronger. Do this for at

Notice of Hearings on Better Protection Against Fire in Schoolhouses—Council Meeting

The recess committee of the legislature is considering a bill having to do with schoolhouses and at a meeting of the municipal council this forenoon a notice was read stating that there would be hearings at the state house tomorrow, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. The measure has to do principally with better fire protection.

There was a bill before the legislature which was designed to give better protection against fires in schoolhouses, but it was so far reaching in its terms that its passage would compel practically every city in the state to expend many thousands of dollars for schoolhouse improvements.

It is not known if this is the bill that the recess committee has under consideration, but it is believed to be the same. The bill was prepared by a committee of thirty citizens prominent in fire prevention and education work.

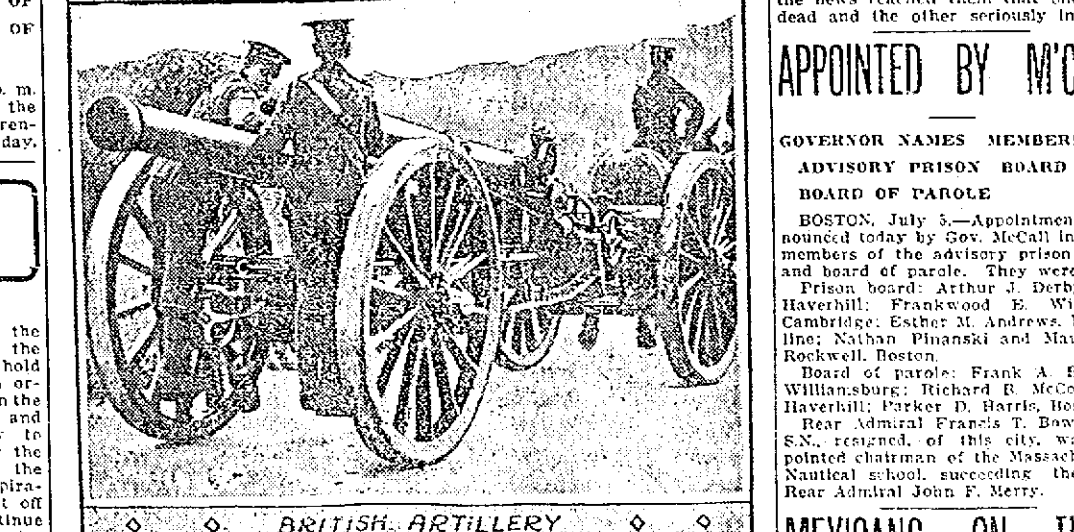

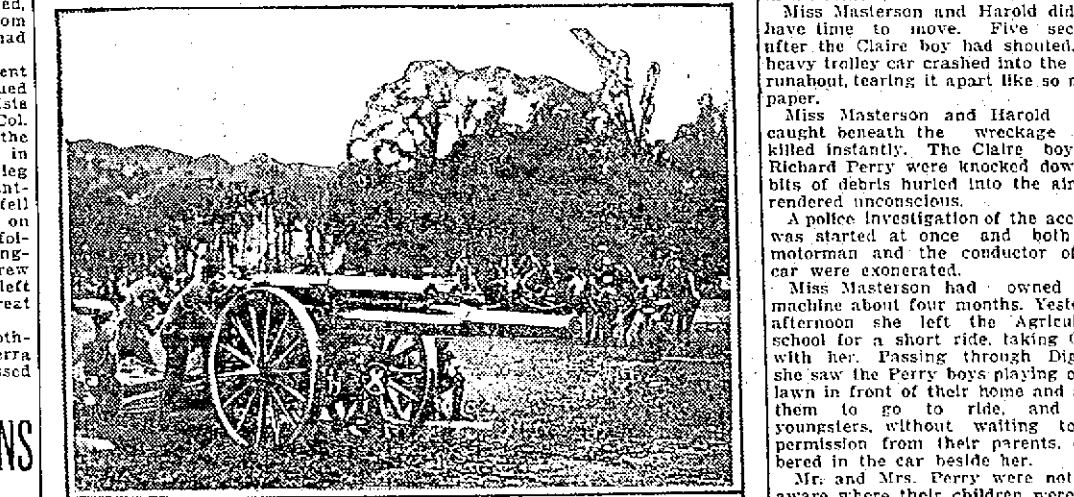

Section 1 of the bill defines the term "schoolhouse" as including any building, or part of a building, used as a public or private school, academy, or other educational institution.

BRITISH THINK GUNS ON FRENCH LINE BETTER THAN GERMANY'S

A correspondent of the London Daily Telegraph at the front says he is credibly informed that the British heavy guns now outclass the German or Austrian famous 42 centimeter guns which the German command sprang as a surprise at the outbreak of the war. British supplies of munitions are so great that in the present offensive the question of economy of shells does not enter into account. The infantry attacks on the German line have been preceded by artillery fire exceeding in intensity anything ever seen before in the war. The upper picture shows British heavy artillery used on the French front; the lower a battery of British five inch howitzers going to the battle line.

YOUR BOYS AND GIRLS

Great care should be taken with baby's teeth. Just as soon as they come, wipe them morning and night with a soft cloth wet in water, a little daily.

The lower teeth usually come in two or three months before the upper teeth. Front teeth, eight to nine months. Side teeth and first chewing teeth, 12 to 18 months. First chewing teeth, seven to nine months. Second molars, 12 to 13 years. Third molars, or wisdom teeth, seven to 21 years.

Two middle front teeth come in, six to eight years. Two side front teeth, six to eight years. First bicuspids, nine to ten years. Eye teeth, 11 to 13 years. Second molars, 12 to 13 years. Third molars, or wisdom teeth, seven to 21 years.

Save the teeth. Never pull a tooth out if you can help it. Go to a dentist. Brush the teeth carefully. Wash the toothbrush after using it and hang it up to dry. After brushing the teeth, rinse the mouth well with plenty of water. Take the child to a dentist once a year. A nutritious diet for the mother before the baby comes lays the foundation of healthy teeth in baby.

It is a bad plan to allow children to eat between regular meals, then when they should eat a good meal they are not hungry, but nervous, and think only of getting out to finish some pot game. If they are compelled to wait for meal hours, which should be regular, they will be really hungry and be glad to sit quietly at the table and eat a substantial meal, which will improve the digestion and the nerves.

Children should be taught very early that it is not safe to use a handkerchief that has been used by someone else, and for similar reasons the use of individual towels and wash cloths should be insisted upon.

A child should be taught to blow its nose, to submit the tongue and throat to inspection, to gargle, and to regard the doctor as a friend whose visits are to be looked forward to with pleasure. Attention to these suggestions will make the task of the physician at some critical time far less difficult than it otherwise would be. If a child has sometimes been threatened with a visit from the doctor as a means of securing obedience, his fears may be strong and a serious drawback to successful treatment.

Teething is not a sickness. Although nearly all babies are more fussy when teething, healthy babies should have no serious trouble cutting their teeth. Sickness at teething time most often comes from bad food, not from the teeth.

A child may more easily get sick when the teeth are coming. The usual cause of sickness at this time is a dirty little, a cold or milk that has not been kept cold and has become sour, or some other such reason.

Teething begins at about six or eight months, and the first tooth may appear in a healthy baby any time after this. Occasionally a tooth is cut earlier. The lower middle teeth usually come first. Babies a year old usually have from six to eight teeth. Soothing syrups or paregoric will not help the baby to cut teeth and are dangerous to use.

See that a baby or young child has the required amount of sleep. A very young baby should sleep 18 to 20 hours out of every 24 hours. At six months of age, about 16 hours. At one year, 14 hours; at two years, 12 hours. Daytime naps should be continued as long as possible. The sleeping room should be darkened and well ventilated, the windows open at the top and bottom. If the baby cries when he should be asleep, he is probably sick. Do not train the child to be carried if he cries. Train him to go to sleep in the dark.

A child who has a tendency toward round shoulders should sleep entirely without pillows. Children who have never used pillows from infancy up, have almost invariably beautifully shaped backs. There are certain exercises also which make the youthful back stronger and straight. Canoeing is excellent for the slender girl whose shoulders droop forward. Basketball and tennis are also helpful. Ball playing or ball tossing is one of the best exercises for the back. Running is perhaps the very best. The child who runs a great deal is usually tall in adult age.

Have the round shouldered girl run around the dining room table 50 times, twice a day, and if she thrusts a short stick through her elbows, back of her waistline, so much the better.

Unceasing vigilance must be the part of the mother whose little daughter shows tendency toward round shoulders. The "stand up straight" slogan must be often heard in the home, no matter whether it annoys the small offender or not. She cannot be depended upon herself—no child could—to correct her physical defect by force of personal will power, so the work must be undertaken for her by someone to whom her welfare is very important, indeed.

Manners should be cultivated in youth, and the younger the better, for as manners are to a large extent acquired, a child with mannerly parents runs a far better chance of growing up with good manners than one with unmannerly parents, even if the unmannerly parents give lectures on manners every day, and the mannerly parents never mention them.

So, too, it is important that a child have a well bred nurse. For the child apes the nurse as well as the parent. Another thing to remember is that a child reasons. So if you tell it to do something, state, tell it the reason. Don't try to make an automaton of the child; try to make a polite little reasoning person of him. Then he will "remember his manners," because he will know the reason for them.

Orderliness is almost a branch of good manners. And orderliness is so much a matter of habit that every child can be trained to do it. If children, as soon as they are able to have possessions, are taught to keep them in order there will be no effort necessary.

If you tell the small boy that a well bred man stands when women are in the room, that he pulls out their chair at the table, that he helps them into car or automobile, the small boy will grow up naturally into a polite young man that there will have been no effort connected with it.

Who of us do not remember the childish fear that often came when our mothers closed the door or turned off the light with her "good-night kiss"? The fear of the dark room is something almost universal. Tell it the reason. There may be strange animals in the dark, or ogres, or supernatural beings; or there may merely be a haunting terror of something unknown. Such fears must never be laughed at. The best plan is to make home seem a very safe place, where father and mother are always near. Later, on will come the time when the child may be taught physical and mental bravery.

Perhaps this way of helping timid children to sleep in a strange bed may help. Make a rag baby of unbleached muslin, fully large as a real baby, stuff it with cotton batting, make eyes, nose and mouth with ink. Make a nightgown for it. It's unbreakable and soft if they happen to fall upon it; and lots of comfort. Such a rag baby can be used five years. It will help in teaching children to sleep alone in their room in time the baby is forgotten altogether.

Great care should be taken with baby's teeth. Just as soon as they come, wipe them morning and night with a soft cloth wet in water, a little daily.

The lower teeth usually come in two or three months before the upper teeth. Front teeth, eight to nine months. Side teeth and first chewing teeth, 12 to 18 months. First chewing teeth, seven to nine months. Second molars, 12 to 13 years. Third molars, or wisdom teeth, seven to 21 years.

TWO WERE KILLED

Woman and Child Die When Car Hit Auto—Two Injured

SOUTH DIGHTON, July 5.—One woman and a child were instantly killed here yesterday afternoon, another child seriously injured, while a third boy barely escaped death, when the automobile in which they were riding was struck by a Bay State limousine on its way to Taunton car at the foot of Gushue's hill.

The dead are: Miss Ella Coyle Masterson, 29 years old, of the Bristol County Agricultural school, Taunton. Harold S. Perry, 6 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Perry of Dighton. The injured are: Richard Perry, 4 years old, a brother of the dead child; fractured right thigh and internal injuries. Morton Lawrence, 15 years old, cuts and bruises, but not serious; Bristol County Agricultural school, Taunton, where he is a pupil.

Miss Masterson, or Miss Coyle, as she was generally known, was driving the automobile, a light one-seater runabout, and had the children with her when the machine became stalled across the street car tracks at the foot of Gushue's hill.

Claire got out to crank the machine and had just taken his seat again after starting the engine when he saw the Bay State car coming around the curve down the hill and only 60 feet distant. Crying out a warning to the others, he sprang out grabbing Richard in his arms.

Miss Masterson and Harold did not have time to move. Five seconds after the Claire boy had shouted, the heavy trolley car crashed into the light runabout, tearing it apart like so much paper.

Miss Masterson and Harold were caught beneath the wreckage and killed instantly. The Claire boy and Richard Perry were knocked down by bits of debris hurled into the air and rendered unconscious.

A police investigation of the accident was started at once, and both the motorist and the conductor of the car were exonerated.

Miss Masterson had owned her machine about four months. Yesterday afternoon she left the Agricultural school for a short ride, taking Claire with her. Passing through Dighton, she saw the Perry boys playing on the lawn in front of their home and asked them to go to ride, and both youngsters, without waiting to get permission from their parents, clamored in the car beside her.

Mr. and Mrs. Perry were not even aware where their children were until the news reached them that one was dead and the other seriously injured.
